King And Queen Of Fair Named

By SUE BOYER
Herald Staff Writer

"It's just terrific," breathed Miss Barbara Bolender shortly after she was crowned Pickaway County Fair Queen Sunday night. Also crowned during the 30th annual edition of the fair was Jim Fausnaugh as fair king.

Jeff Reichelderfer was named first runner-up to the king and Miss Nancy Schein was selected as first runner-up to the queen.

Queen Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Bolender, Route 4. She will be a senior at Logan Elm High School this fall.

As part of the competition, each contestant was asked to reach into a hat held by emcee P. J. Ryal and bring out a question which was answered. Miss Bolender's question was to comment on William Shakespeare's words, "All the world is a stage and the people are only actors."

The queen's response was that she firmly believed this statement to be true and that she felt her role was to become a nurse. Upon graduation from high school, the young lady stated she plans to enter training for that profession.

Miss Bolender was the first of the ten queen contestants to take the stage for her interview. She represents the Washington Hill Climbers 4-H Club.

Representing the Jackson Livestock 4-H Club, Fausnaugh is a senior at Westfall High School. He will serve as president of the student body there this fall.

The fair king was asked by the emcee to explain how 4-H or FFA would help him as he went out into the world. He stated that the most important training he had received from his work in 4-H was to prepare him to speak in front of groups.

Probably the single most significant thing that assured a position in the royal court for Reichelderfer was his candid and honest answer to his question from the hat. The first runner-up to the king was asked what he thought about the government bringing Vietnam refugees to his country. He said many of the American soldiers had done their share to increase the numbers in Vietnam and therefore the country should be responsible for some of the people.

Reichelderfer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Reichelderfer, Tarlton. He represented the Saltcreek Livestock 4-H Club and is very active in sports at Logan Elm High School where he is a senior.

Miss Schein, selected as the first runner-up to Queen Barbara, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schein, Route 1, Williamsport. She is a senior at Westfall High School and represented the Deercreek Busy Bees 4-H Club. At Westfall, the first runner-up is president of the local chapter of the National Honor Society. She is also president of her 4-H club.

A current question of interest concerning whether students should have a place to smoke at school as do the teachers was asked Miss Schein. She replied that although she did not smoke, she believed students who did should have a facility in which to smoke.

Judging the king and queen contest were Miss Ohio State Fair Robin Rager and her mother Mrs. Ruth Rager and Becky Long from the Highland County Home Economics Extension Office.

The king contestants were escorted to the stage by the 1974 Fair Queen, Sue Milburn. Last year's king, Nolan Hines, escorted the ten lovely ladies to the stage for their interviews.

Miss Milburn was introduced at the beginning of the ceremonies and told the audience how much she had enjoyed her reign. She represented the local fair at the Ohio State Fair and was first runner-up in the junior fair contest there. This summer, Miss Milburn is working as a lifeguard at Deercreek State Park.

Hines said that the duties of king were not as complicated as the queen's but he had helped Miss Milburn with many of the contests at last year's fair.

Bruce Bell from the Circleville Jaycees made the presentations to this year's court.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Frank of Cincinnati and Kevin Corckran of the Clinton County Extension Office judged the talent contest. The 12 talent acts were alternated with the ten king and queen contestants' interviews.

Taking first place in the talent contest were the twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Ervin, Route 1, Ashville. Don and Dan Ervin, calling their act

Ford Gets Big Polish Greeting

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — President Ford flew to Poland today for a two-day official visit, the first in a series of meetings with East European Communist leaders.

The President was greeted at Warsaw's military airport by Polish Communist party leader Edward Gierek, President Henryk Jablonski and Premier Piotr Jaroszewicz.

After a welcoming ceremony, Ford and Gierek left the airport in an open limousine and drove through streets lined with cheering Poles to Ford's guest residence in the Royal Wilanow Palace just outside the capital.

Ford arrived in Warsaw after talks with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt in Bonn that focused chiefly on Western economic ills, and a symbolic visit to American and German troops at a remote outpost known to those stationed there as "the Rock."

Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger held a final session with Schmidt and German Foreign Minister Hans Dietrich Genscher over breakfast today at Gynnich Castle.

The breakfast was considerably delayed, however, when Schmidt's helicopter had to turn back halfway between Bonn and Gynnich because of thick fog. His party waited for limousines to pick them up before continuing on their way to meet Ford.

The presidential visit to West Germany was capped Sunday night by a three-hour state dinner aboard a Rhine cruise ship that passed the peak where, according to legend, Siegfried slew the dragon — a local tale like that of David and Goliath.

Hardly noted, with overcast skies almost obscuring a nearly full moon, were the pillings of the destroyed bridge at Remagen, a strategic objective that American forces seized from Hitler's legions near the end of World War II.

Ironically, one stop scheduled for the President and Mrs. Ford in Warsaw was the reconstructed Old Town section destroyed principally by the Nazis in that same war.

Wars past did not figure in Ford's two-night stay in Bonn, however. He and Schmidt and advisors, including Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, talked chiefly about cooperation to end a deep economic slump embracing virtually all the nonCommunist developed countries.

Following a meeting that ran 30 minutes beyond the time allotted, Ford told newsmen: "The chancellor and I agreed that it was vitally important that the economic policies of Germany and the European community be integrated with our own economic policies."

Midway Chatter

The 1975 Pickaway County Fair is in full swing and judging by Sunday's opening day crowd (fair officials have no way of estimating daily attendance since it is a free gate) Paul Dean's prediction of the biggest fair ever is justified.

Pari mutuel wagering on the harness races has returned to the Pickaway County Fair. It has been many years since wagering was a part of the speed program.

For those who plan to attend the races, here are, with tongue in cheek, the "trackman's selections".

Mail Pouch Charlie's Picks:

First Race — Young Excitement, Lady Physician, Mar Cee.

Second Race — Adios Bonita, Phillie Farr, Project Demon.

Third Race — Coffee Belle, Denny W. Direct, Lunar Lind.

Fourth Race — John The Merchant, FI Fo, Circle H.

Fifth Race — Capias, Johnny B. Rowdiun, Jo Hi Speed.

Sixth Race — Ms., Motor Boy, B. G. Break.

Seventh Race — HMC, Meadow Dean F., Avalon Kren.

Eighth Race — Janellepe, Plum, Timothy.

Tom The Tipster's Picks:

First Race — Young Excitement, Mar Cee.

Second Race — Tag On, Adios Bonita.

Third Race — Combo Hanover, Hillcrest.

Fourth Race — Circle H., John The Merchant.

Fifth Race — Shady John, Capias.

Seventh Race — HMC, Great Egyptian.

Eighth Race — Janellepe, Plum.

Posttime Tuesday will be 4 p.m. instead of 4:30 as previously planned.

Correction — Due to an error in the premium book, we incorrectly noted that the Circleville Jaycee-sponsored Pet Parade would be held Thursday at the Pickaway County Fair . . .

The parade will be held Wednesday, as always, at 5 p.m.

Memorial Service For Short Set At Scioto Downs

There will be a memorial service for Mr. Forrest Short 7:30 p.m. tonight at Scioto Downs.

The 81-year-old harness horse trainer and driver lost his life in a freak racing accident at Scioto Downs Friday when he was crushed by the horse he was driving, J. W. Song.

Funeral service for Mr. Short was held 2 p.m. today at Defenbaugh-Wise Funeral Home. He was buried in St. Joseph Cemetery.

Rail Reorganization Program Recommended

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal planning agency recommended today that the government consolidate seven financially ailing northeastern railroads into one 15,000-mile system in the biggest corporate reorganization in American history.

For the traveling public, the plan also called for the creation of an all-passenger railroad line between New York City and Washington and for improved passenger train service on 16 other routes.

In the report, the U.S. Railway Association told Congress that 5,700 miles of lightly used track now owned by the railroads in the 17 states they serve should be abandoned or subsidized with federal-state funds. That track carries about 2 per cent of all traffic on the seven railroads.

The plan also recommended that the remaining 2,000-plus miles of track be sold to privately owned railroads to allow those carriers to extend their lines and create competition for the proposed new railroad in all major cities in the affected region.

The USRA program was developed after months of public hearings, preliminary reports and recommendations by various government agencies. Congress has 60 working days to accept or reject the plan. If Congress does nothing, the program automatically goes into effect.

The backbone of the proposed new railroad, known as ConRail, would be the Penn Central. Other railroads to be included in the reorganization are the Erie Lackawanna, the Reading, the Central of New Jersey, the Lehigh Valley, the Lehigh and Hudson River and the Ann Arbor.

If approved by Congress, the USRA plan would set up a rail system elsewhere.

ROUNDTOWN

CONSTRUCTION on Nicholas Drive will make entrance and exit routes around the Pickaway County Fairgrounds "terribly congested," according to Circleville Police Chief Robert Temple . . .

Extreme caution must be exercised by motorists in the area, he stressed, due to the construction and added pedestrian traffic . . . Intersecting streets will be heavily used . . .

The Chief urges that motorists be especially watchful for emergency vehicles trying to negotiate to the eastern part of the county on Route 22 . . .

One way motorists can aid the situation, Chief Temple said, is to use proper entrance and exit lanes from the shopping center near the fairgrounds.

Weather

Mostly sunny and warm today and Tuesday, high both days, mid to upper 80s. Clear tonight, low, mid 60s. Probability of precipitation near zero today, tonight and tomorrow. Temperatures Sunday were: high, 86; low, 65.

Two Circleville Girls Awarded Scholarships

CHRISTIE NELSON

JANIE JENKINS

Two Circleville girls have been awarded the Edridge A. Stuart Scholarship for the 1975-76 school year. The announcement came from the Carnation Company Scholarship Foundation.

Scholarship recipients are Christine Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Nelson, 560 Ridgewood Drive, and Janie Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkins, 666 E. Mound St.

Both girls were selected by a three-man committee of Dr. J. E. Wallace Sterling Jr., Chancellor, Stanford University; Frederick F. Larkin Jr., chairman of the board, Security Pacific National Bank; and Norman Barker Jr., president and chief executive officer of the United California Bank. This is the first time either of the girls has received a Stuart Award.

Miss Nelson plans to attend Ohio State University in the fall to study physical therapy. Her father is sales manager at John W. Eshelman and Sons, a division of Carnation Company, Circleville.

Miss Jenkins plans to attend the University of Texas at El Paso to study elementary education. Her father is assistant traffic manager at Eshelman's.

The scholarships were established by Carnation Company to honor its founder and first president, Edridge A. Stuart. Awards are made on the basis of character, scholarship record, leadership, and seriousness of purpose. Although an award is for one year, the recipients may apply for renewals.

tending across America's manufacturing heartland from the Atlantic Ocean to the Mississippi River. The 17 states directly affected by the plan contain 55 per cent of all manufacturing plants in the country and they also are major producers of coal and manufacturers of steel.

The reorganization would be the largest in history, USRA said. It would exceed even the 1911 government-ordered reshuffling of the Standard Oil conglomerate.

If the plan is rejected, USRA, the Department of Transportation and the Rail Services Planning Office of the Interstate Commerce Commission will confer and make necessary changes. The plan then would be resubmitted to Congress for a second look.

The United States Railway Association's proposal submitted to Congress today for a restructured rail transportation system in the Northeast and Midwest includes some 1,675 miles of track in Ohio and 1,240 miles in Indiana.

OHIO

The rehabilitation portion of the plan calls for first priority to be given six main lines which cross Ohio:

These are the former New York Central main line between Buffalo and Chicago via Cleveland and Toledo; the line between Cleveland and Indianapolis via Crestline; the former Pennsylvania Railroad main line between Pittsburgh and Chicago via Alliance and Crestline; the line between Detroit and Cincinnati via Toledo and Dayton; the line from Gallion to Columbus, and the line from Alliance to Cleveland.

During the first year of the recommended capital improvement program for ConRail, Buckeye Yard in Columbus will be rehabilitated and expanded, and construction will begin on a major new intermodal facility at Crestline.

Crestline will then serve as a major

Major Tax Revolt Hits U.S. Schools

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Americans fed up with rising taxes have rejected proposed school budgets at a record rate this year, defeating spending plans requiring increased levies on property and other items.

An Associated Press spot check showed the mood of discontent seemed strongest on the East and West Coasts, although there were signs of rebellion elsewhere.

New York State officials said 622 school district budgets were submitted to voters during May and June. They said a record 155 or 23.4 per cent were rejected. The previous high rate of defeat was in 1969 when just under 20 per cent of the budgets were rejected.

The biggest setbacks came in suburban areas where property taxes already are high. Some of the proposed tax increases ranged up to 20 per cent, with local authorities claiming they needed the money because state aid to education is not keeping pace with inflation.

The trade publication, the Nation's Schools & Colleges, estimated recently that it cost almost $1,170 to educate the average public school student in the academic year that ended last month. That was 14.4 per cent higher than a year earlier and school officials say next year's costs are rising even faster.

The biggest expense for most districts — ranging up to 80 per cent in some areas — is salaries, with fuel costs running second on the list of problems.

Local taxes on real estate and personal property provide the largest chunk of school funding in many areas and the voter rejections of levy increases have forced authorities to reshuffle budgets and cut spending to keep within existing revenues.

Maynard Mathison, a spokesman for the superintendent of public instruction in the state of Washington, said about 2,000 teachers are losing their jobs as a result of the cutbacks.

Washington officials said voters in 67 of the 275 school districts that had elections this spring turned down spending proposals, for a rejection rate of 24 per cent. In contrast, only 9 per cent of the tax plans submitted to the voters last year were defeated.

The turndowns — including one in Seattle where voters rejected the proposed budget in two separate elections — affected about 300,000 of the state's 750,000 pupils. Only $205 million or 53 per cent of the $390 million requested was approved. The same districts requested about $319 million last year and got all but $20 million.

FBI Phone Book Deep, Dark Secret

By MARGARET GENTRY

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) —

One of the

FBI's best-kept secrets is its telephone directory.

Hardly anyone outside the FBI has one and not even the attorney general has one, although his aides say he doesn't really need it.

Reporters and other private citizens cannot get one, not even by petitioning for it under the Freedom of Information Act which is supposed to, and sometimes does, open all sorts of government files to public view.

This reporter tried that route but only gained one page of the directory after Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi overruled the FBI. That page lists the numbers for FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley's office and for the offices of 10 of the 13 FBI divisions. The phone numbers for Kelley and all 13 divisions long have been listed in the Justice Department directory which is routinely provided to reporters.

The page that Levi released also includes the numbers for the FBI gymnasium, the guard captain, and the cafeteria. A reporter might cover the FBI for 30 years and never need those numbers.

Reporters who occasionally have glimpsed one of the secret directories believe it contains an alphabetical list of the thousands of headquarters employees, their division assignment, room numbers and telephone numbers.

Levi and Kelley argued that a reporter doesn't need a phone book because the main switchboard operator will put through calls to any FBI employee. That sometimes works and sometimes doesn't.

This exercise began last Feb. 21, in an effort to obtain a necessary tool of reporting. On March 14, Kelley denied the request, citing the sections of the FOI Act exempting certain internal records and personnel files from public disclosure. And he wrote in a letter:

"I am aware that the information you requested would be vital to certain foreign intelligence services intent upon disrupting or otherwise thwarting our activities. I am therefore concerned that public disclosure of this information could impede our ability to carry out our investigative responsibilities."

Besides, he said, reporters already have the names and telephone numbers for the agents designated to respond to press inquiries. The spokesman deliver only the agency's official response and they often don't have the requested data or take hours or days to provide it.

Kelley's decision was appealed to Levi who replied on July 17, "I have decided to affirm the action of Director Kelley in this case with a single modification" — the page he ordered released.

"Failure to have access to this directory affects the public not at all," Levi wrote. He said the FBI switchboard will connect any caller with the individual he requests or with "the appropriate office to deal with the caller's problem."

The attorney general said he was acting to protect the privacy of FBI employees.

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices continued to pull back in a drifting, listless session in the stock market today.

Trading volume, which hit a 2 1/2-month low on the NYSE Friday, remained light today.

A Page Of Opinion

Taking It On The Chin

Poor old Joe Average is about to take it on the chin once again. An increase in auto and homeowners insurance rates is apparently in the works.

The president of Nationwide Insurance, one of the largest firms in the nation, says claim costs have outstripped income in both divisions of insurance, and rates will likely have to go up.

Surprisingly enough, cost of court damage settlements in the auto insurance industry was not cited as a major reason. In past years, this was a prime cause of rate increases.

Now, insurance officials say, the rising cost of auto parts is to blame, fueled by the inflation which has ravaged the country in the past two years.

However, what was not said was the fact that one reason for the rise in costs is directly due to the federally-mandated so-called "safety bumpers" which have been required starting with the 1974 model cars.

As is usually the case when the government bureaucracy meddles in the private sector, the alleged cure has turned out to be worse than the disease.

The government required bumpers that would protect safety-related items on an auto in collisions up to five m.p.h. Note the words "safety-related" in the standard.

It has turned out that even when the bumpers protect safety-related equipment, such as headlights, the sheet metal takes a worse beating in some cases. In addition, replacement of the big bumpers is much more costly than previous examples.

As a result, not only have the new bumpers not proven to be worth the higher original cost, they contribute to cost of repair, and, eventually, to higher insurance rates.

Furthermore, heavier bumpers mean heavier framing to handle the weight. Heavier framing means even more weight. More weight means less gasoline mileage. Less gasoline mileage means higher operating costs, and so on ad infinitum.

There must be a lesson in the sad fumbling by the national transportation agency. Unfortunately, the agency never seems to learn that lesson.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, July 28, the 209th day of 1975. There are 156 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1914, Austria declared war on Serbia. It was the beginning of World War I.

On this date:

In 1821, Peru proclaimed independence from Spain.

In 1829, a steam carriage invented by Sir Goldsworth Gurney traveled from London to Bath, England, and back at 15 miles an hour.

In 1943, during World War II, U.S. forces were winning victories on the island of Sicily.

In 1945, 13 persons were killed as a U.S. military plane crashed into the Empire State Building in New York City.

Five years ago: Egypt banned broadcasts by Arab guerrilla groups in Cairo as the U.S. worked for Arab-Israeli peace.

One year ago: Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon arrived in Washington to begin a month of intensive discussions with American and Arab leaders on a Middle East settlement.

Today's birthdays: Jaqueline Onassis is 46. Deep sea explorer Jacques Piccard is 53.

Thought for today: Only the young die good — Oliver Herford, English writer, 1863-1935.

Bicentennial footnote: It was 200 years ago today, early in the American Revolution, that the Pennsylvania Committee of Safety ordered Robert Morris to import from Holland and Spain the medicine which would be required by the harbor defense force the committee was forming.

Speaking Of Your Health

When should a deviated septum be operated on?

Mr. L.F., III.

Dear Mr. F.:

The nasal septum that divides one side of the nose from the other is composed of bone and cartilage.

Nose and throat specialists agree that they rarely see a completely straight nasal septum. There is some deviation to one side or the other.

These deviations most often are due to some developmental change that occurs before birth. Occasionally, fractures of the nose will also include fracture, or displacement, of the septum.

The "submucous resection" of the nasal septum is the operation designed to straighten the septum. It is a very effective operation when it is done for a very specific purpose.

When the deviation of the septum blocks the free flow of air to one or both sides of the nose surgery is recommended.

When the deviation of the septum impinges on the turbinate bones (vital structures within the nose) surgery is also suggested.

A deviation alone is not the only indication for surgery. When that deviation of the septum is responsible for nasal symptoms or discomfort the operation is performed.

Can a child who has had his spleen removed live a normal life?

Mrs. T. J., Tex.

Dear Mrs. J.:

It is remarkable that such a large and important organ like the spleen can be removed without permanently affecting the longevity of an individual.

The spleen is sometimes removed to control severe bleeding tendencies such as in hemophilia and for other types of anemia.

Sometimes, following an injury, the spleen can be ruptured and must be removed as an emergency procedure.

When the spleen is removed, there are other parts of the body that take over its functions. The liver, the marrow of the long bones and the sternum (chest bone) take over the function of manufacturing blood cells and even of destroying them when they have exhausted their function.

People who have had their spleens removed can live a normal life.

Paymaster For Liberty

By JIM BISHOP

There are many unsung heroes of America's fight for freedom almost 200 years ago. Haym Salomon comes to mind. He was a short, bearded Jew with a thick Polish accent—an almost comic figure when he landed in New York in 1740.

He became a money broker, lending and borrowing in the area of Wall Street. In 1775, he was rich enough to join the affluent Tories who opposed freedom from Great Britain and George III because they had the most to lose.

No one but his small family realized the intensity of the fires of freedom which burned in this man's breast. When Lord Howe laid siege to New York in 1776, George Washington made the grievous tactical error of splitting his army—some in Manhattan, the rest at Gravesend Bay, Long Island.

Howe landed troops in Gravesend Bay from Staten Island, and rolled up the Long Island wing of the Continental Army. General Washington was barely able to save his regiments in a night crossing of the East River to New York. Howe followed and took New York.

Haym Salomon became a spy for the Continental Army. He was arrested by Lord Howe and threatened with death. The little man's wife and children wept. At last the British admitted that they had no material case against Salomon.

The tears of his family did not stop him. When he was paroled, he became a "desertion agent." He paid Hessian soldiers to desert the British and disappear into other Colonies as farmers. He did well. No American applauded the little Jew because public appreciation would expose him.

He was arrested as a spy in 1778, and sentenced to death by hanging. He was waiting in Provost Prison in New York for execution when he bribed a jailer with gold guineas hidden in his clothes. By night he moved through the British lines to Philadelphia. There, he offered his services to the Continental Congress. The gentlemen who had signed the Declaration of Independence looked Salomon over and couldn't think of anything he might do to help.

He set himself up as a money broker in a small office on Front Street, Philadelphia. Commerce was in the hands of a few leading Quaker families. Philadelphia's most lucrative business was smuggling.

Mr. Salomon made money. Then he allied himself with small businessmen and broke the stranglehold of the leading families in commerce. Alone he forced the price of clothing and wheat down.

He was unhappy. The war for liberty was going on, and he wasn't in it. He ingratiated himself with the French, and became paymaster of the French army units fighting under the Marquis de Lafayette. It was not enough. He returned to buying Hessian soldiers out of British service.

Word came to him that the Continental Congress was bankrupt. Without being asked, he tendered $211,678 in gold to the cause. The Congress had been printing paper money which the Colonists redeemed in British pounds at one-third the value.

Haym Salomon bought $353,229 of Colonial paper at full value. Then he loaned $92,000 to the Congress and received a signed note. Later, he paid $20,000 in salaries to government clerks from his pocket.

James Madison of Virginia accepted money from Salomon to remain in Philadelphia. He wrote to Edmund Randolph: "... I have, for some time past, been a pensioner on the favor of Haym Salomon, a Jew broker." Later, in 1782, Madison wrote:

"The kindness of our little friend in Front Street, near the coffee house, is a fund which will preserve me from extremities, but I never resort to it without great mortification as he obstinately rejects all recompense. The price of money is so usurious that he thinks it ought to be extorted from none but those who aim at profitable speculation."

The war ended in 1783. His work was done, and Haym Salomon died two years later. He left an estate of less than $1,000. In his short life, he had granted and loaned $700,000 to the weak colonies.

His heirs tried to get money from the government of the United States. In 1864, a Senate committee stated that a claim for $685,000 had "undeniable merit." The family never got a dollar.

Maybe Haym would have wanted it that way. He gave and gave until his bones were dry. No one sings his song ...

George Meyers, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Meyers, Route 4, was named counselor at the Ohio State University Freshman Camp. The camp was for students entering OSU in the fall of 1960.

Fourteen Circleville women were named by the local men as the most exciting in the area. Most of the women were named because of the "effect they had upon other people." Among the chosen few was Carole Weiler, Circleville's own Miss Ohio.

Authorities at the Pickaway County Children's Home called the Circleville Fire Department when a barn fire broke out on the grounds. No damage was reported.

The pages of the 1960 edition of The Herald at this time of the year were filled with campaign promises of Richard Nixon, seeking the White House position that year.

Ray Goodman, chairman of the Pickaway County Horse Shoe Association, announced that a horse shoe tournament would again be a feature of the fair.

A new event of the 1960 Pickaway County Fair was a horse pulling contest. The contest was planned to show both animal strength and human skill.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The recession is being declared over by numerous private and government economists who rapidly are turning their attention to what they confidently declare is the coming recovery.

Meanwhile, the latest jobless rate was 8.9 per cent of the civilian labor force. Some private analysts, who include long-term dropouts from the labor force, put the figure at closer to 11 per cent.

The Commerce Department announced that another 1.3 million Americans were added to the nation's list of poor last year, bringing the total of poor to 24.3 million, or 12 per cent of the entire population.

Median family income—that is, the midpoint of all incomes—was set at $12,840 for 1974, which means that, adjusted for price increases, it was down 4 per cent from 1973.

Interest rates are rising, and that includes rates on home mortgages.

Prices are rising, especially for food. All predictions include more price increases and only a slow reduction of unemployment.

At present prices, many families would have to work six months in order to pay for a new automobile that might break down in three years. At present prices, many families cannot even dream of owning a new house.

No wonder that that ordinary Americans sometimes ask if they are living in the same world as the bankers and economists and politicians who peruse their favorite sets of statistics and issue their opinions.

Somewhere along the line a good many of the nation's leaders seem to have forgotten that statistics might look like numbers but really they are human beings. They aren't averages or indicators, but people.

There are statistics that do indeed indicate the economy's momentum is beginning to pick up. Output is rising. Inventories have been worked off. Some retail sales are beginning to rise. These are a few.

Continued over a period of weeks and months, such figures are accurate indicators of the economy's direction. It can't very well be denied that if economic activity is picking up then we are coming out of recession.

Sen. Valiquette Questions Rules

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, questioned Friday Board of Regents residency rules which she said appear to discriminate among members of the same family.

"As I understand the policy established by the Board of Regents," she said in a letter to Chancellor James A. Norton, "a person who moves into and is employed in Ohio is immediately eligible for reduced in-state tuition fees.

"However, the spouse and dependent children of that person must reside in Ohio for one year before residency for in-state tuition fees can be established," she wrote.

In 1870 the New York Times began its expose of Tammany Hall corruption which resulted in imprisonment of Boss Tweed.

A Page Of Opinion

Taking It On The Chin

Poor old Joe Average is about to take it on the chin once again. An increase in auto and homeowners insurance rates is apparently in the works.

The president of Nationwide Insurance, one of the largest firms in the nation, says claim costs have outstripped income in both divisions of insurance, and rates will likely have to go up.

Surprisingly enough, cost of court damage settlements in the auto insurance industry was not cited as a major reason. In past years, this was a prime cause of rate increases.

Now, insurance officials say, the rising cost of auto parts is to blame, fueled by the inflation which has ravaged the country in the past two years.

However, what was not said was the fact that one reason for the rise in costs is directly due to the federally-mandated so-called "safety bumpers" which have been required starting with the 1974 model cars.

As is usually the case when the government bureaucracy meddles in the private sector, the alleged cure has turned out to be worse than the disease.

The government required bumpers that would protect safety-related items on an auto in collisions up to five m.p.h. Note the words "safety-related" in the standard.

It has turned out that even when the bumpers protect safety-related equipment, such as headlights, the sheet metal takes a worse beating in some cases. In addition, replacement of the big bumpers is much more costly than previous examples.

As a result, not only have the new bumpers not proven to be worth the higher original cost, they contribute to cost of repair, and, eventually, to higher insurance rates.

Furthermore, heavier bumpers mean heavier framing to handle the weight. Heavier framing means even more weight. More weight means less gasoline mileage. Less gasoline mileage means higher operating costs, and so on ad infinitum.

There must be a lesson in the sad fumbling by the national transportation agency. Unfortunately, the agency never seems to learn that lesson.

Speaking Of Your Health

When should a deviated septum be operated on?

Mr. L.F., Ill.

Dear Mr. F.:

The nasal septum that divides one side of the nose from the other is composed of bone and cartilage.

Nose and throat specialists agree that they rarely see a completely straight nasal septum. There is some deviation to one side or the other.

These deviations most often are due to some developmental change that occurs before birth. Occasionally, fractures of the nose will also include fracture, or displacement, of the septum.

The "submucous resection" of the nasal septum is the operation designed to straighten the septum. It is a very effective operation when it is done for a very specific purpose.

When the deviation of the septum blocks the free flow of air to one or both sides of the nose surgery is recommended.

When the deviation of the septum impinges on the turbinate bones (vital structures within the nose) surgery is also suggested.

A deviation alone is not the only indication for surgery. When that deviation of the septum is responsible for nasal symptoms or discomfort the operation is performed.

Can a child who has had his spleen removed live a normal life?

Mrs. T. J., Tex.

Dear Mrs. J.:

It is remarkable that such a large and important organ like the spleen can be removed without permanently affecting the longevity of an individual.

The spleen is sometimes removed to control severe bleeding tendencies such as in hemophilia and for other types of anemia.

Sometimes, following an injury, the spleen can be ruptured and must be removed as an emergency procedure.

When the spleen is removed, there are other parts of the body that take over its functions. The liver, the marrow of the long bones and the sternum (chest bone) take over the function of manufacturing blood cells and even of destroying them when they have exhausted their function.

People who have had their spleens removed can live a normal life.

Paymaster For Liberty

By JIM BISHOP

There are many unsung heroes of America's fight for freedom almost 200 years ago. Haym Salomon comes to mind. He was a short, bearded Jew with a thick Polish accent—an almost comic figure when he landed in New York in 1740.

He became a money broker, lending and borrowing in the area of Wall Street. In 1775, he was rich enough to join the affluent Tories who opposed freedom from Great Britain and George III because they had the most to lose.

No one but his small family realized the intensity of the fires of freedom which burned in this man's breast. When Lord Howe laid siege to New York in 1776, George Washington made the grievous tactical error of splitting his army—some in Manhattan, the rest at Gravesend Bay, Long Island.

Howe landed troops in Gravesend Bay from Staten Island, and rolled up the Long Island wing of the Continental Army. General Washington was barely able to save his regiments in a night crossing of the East River to New York. Howe followed and took New York.

Haym Salomon became a spy for the Continental Army. He was arrested by Lord Howe and threatened with death. The little man's wife and children wept. At last the British admitted that they had no material case against Salomon.

The tears of his family did not stop him. When he was paroled, he became a "desertion agent." He paid Hessian soldiers to desert the British and disappear into other Colonies as farmers. He did well. No American applauded the little Jew because public appreciation would expose him.

He was arrested as a spy in 1778, and sentenced to death by hanging. He was waiting in Provost Prison in New York for execution when he bribed a jailer with gold guineas hidden in his clothes. By night he moved through the British lines to Philadelphia. There, he offered his services to the Continental Congress. The gentlemen who had signed the Declaration of Independence looked Salomon over and couldn't think of anything he might do to help.

He set himself up as a money broker in a small office on Front Street, Philadelphia. Commerce was in the hands of a few leading Quaker families. Philadelphia's most lucrative business was smuggling.

Mr. Salomon made money. Then he

NEW YORK (AP) — The recession is being declared over by numerous private and government economists who rapidly are turning their attention to what they confidently declare is the coming recovery.

Meanwhile, the latest jobless rate was 8.9 per cent of the civilian labor force. Some private analysts, who include long-term dropouts from the labor force, put the figure at closer to 11 per cent.

The Commerce Department announced that another 1.3 million Americans were added to the nation's list of poor last year, bringing the total of poor to 24.3 million, or 12 per cent of the entire population.

Median family income—that is, the midpoint of all incomes—was set at $12,840 for 1974, which means that, adjusted for price increases, it was down 4 per cent from 1973.

Interest rates are rising, and that includes rates on home mortgages.

Prices are rising, especially for food. All predictions include more price increases and only a slow reduction of unemployment.

At present prices, many families would have to work six months in order to pay for a new automobile that might break down in three years. At present prices, many families cannot even dream of owning a new house.

No wonder then that ordinary Americans sometimes ask if they are living in the same world as the bankers and economists and politicians who peruse their favorite sets of statistics and issue their opinions.

Somewhere along the line a good many of the nation's leaders seem to have forgotten that statistics might look like numbers but really they are human beings. They aren't averages or indicators, but people.

There are statistics that do indeed indicate the economy's momentum is beginning to pick up. Output is rising. Inventories have been worked off. Some retail sales are beginning to rise. These are a few.

Continued over a period of weeks and months, such figures are accurate indicators of the economy's direction. It can't very well be denied that if economic activity is picking up then we are coming out of recession.

Sen. Valiquette Questions Rules

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, questioned Friday Board of Regents residency rules which she said appear to discriminate among members of the same family.

"As I understand the policy established by the Board of Regents," she said in a letter to Chancellor James A. Norton, "a person who moves into and is employed in Ohio is immediately eligible for reduced in-state tuition fees.

"However, the spouse and dependent children of that person must reside in Ohio for one year before residency for in-state tuition fees can be established," she wrote.

In 1870 the New York Times began its expose of Tammany Hall corruption which resulted in imprisonment of Boss Tweed.

Legal Roadblocks Face Offshore Oil Drilling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oil companies and the Ford administration claim that new and massive drilling on the ocean floor may be just the ticket to reduce America's dependence on imports. So why not take that plunge?

According to a burgeoning number of environmentalists and coastal state leaders, there are reasons aplenty. While few deny at least the possibility of an energy bonanza beneath offshore waters, many fear that any rush to capture it would trigger an environmental — and possibly economic — backwash of disastrous proportions.

"What's an oil company care about Cape May County?" asks New Jersey Gov. Brendan T. Byrne. "Once they've got a lease and they've got oil out there, what do they care?"

Massachusetts Gov. Michael S. Dukakis agrees. "I don't think anybody really trusts them," he said of the petroleum industry.

Right or wrong, such suspicions, aimed both at Big Oil and the Interior Department, were heard repeatedly in interviews with local leaders, environmentalists and others as the department hurried to lease huge undersea beds never before drilled.

The 17 offshore basins which may hold oil and natural gas cover some 180 million underwater acres, more than the total area of Rhode Island, Delaware, Connecticut, Hawaii, New Jersey, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Maryland, West Virginia, South Carolina, Maine, Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio.

Their undiscovered oil and gas may equal the nation's entire 116 years of past production, worth perhaps $340 billion at current prices — and it's public property; every taxpayer has a stake in it.

Shell Oil Corp. estimates that tapping offshore petroleum can limit imports to 36 per cent of U.S. oil consumption; without it, imports would approach 50 per cent within 15 years. Current imports total about 38 per cent of U.S. consumption.

But offshore production also threatens to bring oil spills and industrial blight, and many coastal states are demanding more information, more control, more money, more time to prepare.

The Interior Department, on the other hand, is not waiting to sort out these demands.

The department wants to auction 1.6 million acres in new areas off Southern California this October; California is suing.

Interior also plans to auction 1.8 million acres in the unexplored Gulf of Alaska this December; Gov. Jay Hammond is pressing Congress to block the sale.

The first East Coast leasing, off Middle Atlantic states, was tentatively scheduled at 2.6 million acres for May 1976; two counties and five towns on Long Island, N.Y., have sued to prevent it.

Opposition also runs strong in New England, faced with an August 1976 leasing of about 1.3 million acres on Georges Bank, one of the world's richest fishing areas.

Only two coastal areas — the Southeast, due for an undetermined amount of leasing in October 1976, and the Gulf of Mexico, accustomed to offshore petroleum since 1954 — seem at all satisfied.

"Unleash the oil companies and let them go to work and start drilling," urged South Carolina's Gov. James B. Edwards.

"The criticism has been justified in the past," said Edwards, "but I think the modern-day industries are more sensitive to human needs, to the desires of the environmentalists."

"I think they can be profit-oriented and people-oriented all at the same time."

New Jersey Gov. Byrne declared that turning the oil companies loose offshore "is trusting the free enterprise system on a set of standards I can't accept."

"I think their standards are to get the oil, to make a profit on it, and have whatever concern for the environment is consistent with the free enterprise system."

"The standards have got to be a little more carefully drawn in that regard." In Maine, Ronald Poitras, director of coastal planning, said, "They've gotten a more intensive public relations campaign to make it look like they're more responsible, but frankly I don't think they are."

"I think the size and the incredible power of these large oil companies make them suspect from the beginning ... They're bigger than state governments."

Long Island's suit against Atlantic leasing contended it would only increase the power of major oil companies which "function as a cartel in setting prices, protecting profits and minimizing competition from independents."

Such charges are discounted by officials in Louisiana, an oil state since 1902. "We think it's competitive as hell," said Commissioner of Conservation Ray Sutton.

The Interior Department, as manager of the offshore leases, has proposed to ban joint bidding by major companies as a move to give smaller companies a better chance at winning or sharing leases.

But the Long Island suit charged that Interior itself was dominated by the oil industry and should not be allowed to regulate the same offshore development it is trying so hard to promote.

Alaska Gov. Hammond said the leasing of "frontier areas" was a foregone conclusion, adding that Interior even ignored the recommendations of the President's Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ).

Early last year, CEQ rated the environmental risks of oil development in the three Atlantic areas and the Gulf of Alaska.

Meanwhile, oil companies listed for Interior their preferences among 17 offshore areas.

Among the four areas on both lists, this was the result:

—The CEQ put the Gulf of Alaska last, as the worst environmental risk. The oil industry put it first, as the best petroleum prospect. Interior scheduled it first.

—Both CEQ and the industry rated the Mid-Atlantic their second choice. Interior placed it second in the leasing schedule.

—The North Atlantic was CEQ's first choice. The oil industry put it in third place, and so did Interior.

—The CEQ ranked the South Atlantic third. Industry placed it fourth, and so did the Interior Department.

"There is great suspicion about the administration's posture in this," said Dukakis of Massachusetts, "because there's a feeling — whether rightly or wrongly — that things are done quickly and without much consultation, so that opposition can be headed off."

The widespread mistrust has spilled over, not only into the courts, but into Congress through proposals for greater public disclosure of offshore information and more direct federal control over petroleum development.

Interior's assistant secretary Roy Hughes, in charge of the offshore program, said the department can protect the public interest and doesn't need any new laws from Congress.

But Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., a leading spokesman for Interior's critics, said that the public, with 180 million acres and hundreds of billions of dollars at stake, needs the protection only new laws can provide.

Hollings said times have changed and Interior just hasn't caught on yet.

"We've moved from dark operations of the House of Oil (Interior) that was run by the API (American Petroleum Institute) ... and the buddy-buddy system," Hollings drawled.

"It's all got to be done in a different fashion now."

"The public's not going to stand business-as-usual down there by Big Oil and the Interior."

PATIO SUPPER

Tomato juice, wholewheat crackers, grilled franks and kraut on toasted buns, fruit salad, cookies.

Wholewheat Crackers

Another version of our Krazy Crackers, as promised.

$\frac{3}{4}$ cup unbleached white flour, stir to aerate before measuring $\frac{3}{4}$ cup fine wholewheat flour, stir to aerate before measuring $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon baking soda
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup commercial mayonnaise
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup plain yogurt
1 tablespoon mild honey

Stir together the flours, baking soda and salt. With a pastry blender cut in mayonnaise until coarse crumbs form; stir in yogurt and honey.

Press firmly into a ball; cut into 8 equal pieces. On a prepared pastry cloth with a prepared stockinet-covered rolling pin, roll each piece to an uneven 8-inch round — 1-16th inch thick. With a fork, prick all over, making marks about 1 inch apart. Place, a few inches apart, on ungreased cookie sheets; sprinkle lightly with extra salt.

Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven until blistered and spottily browned — 6 to 7 minutes. (Parts of crackers will look very brown indeed but they will not taste scorched.) Place on wire racks to cool and become crisp. Makes 8 huge crackers.

FAMILY DINNER

Country captain style chicken thighs, rice, snap beans, fruit sherbet.

Country Captain Style Chicken Thighs

1 teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup flour
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon pepper
6 chicken thighs, from broiler-fryers
2 or 3 tablespoons butter or margarine

Medium onion, chopped
Medium green pepper, chopped
Clove garlic, minced
1 teaspoon curry powder
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon dried thyme
16-ounce can stewed tomatoes
3 tablespoons dried currants

In a paper bag shake together the flour, salt and pepper; add chicken and shake well. In a 10-inch skillet melt the butter; brown thighs in it; remove. To drippings in skillet add onion, green pepper, garlic, curry and thyme; stir over low heat to get up brown particles; add tomatoes and currants. Return chicken to skillet; cover and cook until tender — about 30 minutes. Serve over rice and top with salted peanuts. Makes 4 servings — $1\frac{1}{2}$ thighs per portion.

Woman Goes Back To Basics

ELK CITY, Kan. (AP) — Remember when life was simpler?

Margery Cunningham did. That's why she abandoned a $900 a month job, a husband and the conveniences of big-city life in Los Angeles to get back to the basics: a country home in Kansas, complete with outhouse, beehive and two pet hogs named Porkchops and Hambone.

"I lived for 30 years in Washington State and California and hated it with a passion," the Oklahoma-born, Kansas-bred mother of six said. "It took me 30 years to get back to the Midwest, but I'm back and I'm loving it."

A chest X ray pried her away from smog-choked Los Angeles seven years ago.

"The doctor said the X ray looked like I was a heavy smoker," she said. "I don't smoke, so I submitted my resignation that afternoon."

A registered nurse, Mrs. Cunningham earns money by working three nights a week at the Sedan City Hospital.

"I hoped all my life for a simpler life style," she said. Now, "I've never worked harder in my life, but I've never enjoyed life more."

She cooks on a 45-year-old gas stove, lights her house with kerosene lamps even though she allows herself the luxury of electricity and says her house has walking water.

"You walk out the back door to the hand pump and get it yourself," she said.

As for food, she raises almost all her own. That means a beehive for honey, goats for milk, chickens for eggs, rabbits and hogs for meat and a garden for vegetables. And for wine and jelly, there are mulberry trees, gooseberry bushes and grape vines. "My hog last year was named Petunia," she said. "It was the first one the Sedan butcher had processed that ever had a name. The butchers there talked about it for weeks."

A reader of "The Whole Earth Catalog," which deals with life in the 1970s, Mrs. Cunningham said she's experimenting with making cheese from goat milk and making home brew. She's already converted goat milk into cottage cheese, but aging cheese will have to wait until she clears out her cellar.

She left her husband because "he was basically a city person and I'm a country person." As for the West Coast, "It's really a wasteland out there."

OPEN HOUSE—Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Strous of Laurelville will celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary Sunday with an open house at Adelphi United Methodist Church from 2-4 p.m. Hosting the event will be their family: Robert E. Strous, Juneau, Wis.; Donald E. Strous, Route 2, Laurelville, and Patricia Strous, Circleville. The couple has resided in the Laurelville-Adelphi area since their marriage on August 2nd, 1935. Prior to marriage Mrs. Strous taught home economics for 10 years in Athens County and later taught at Saltcreek Twp. School for 20 years. Mr. Strous taught in Hallsville, Centralia, Bull Creek and Adelphi schools for 16 years and served as teacher and superintendent at Saltcreek Twp. School for 20 years. All relatives and friends will be cordially welcomed.

'Fantastic' Response To Pick A Way

By DAVE AMEY
Herald Staff Writer

Judging from community response to Sharon Eyerman's line of business, she probably would have been out of a job by now if she had started sooner.

"It's just been fantastic," said Mrs. Eyerman, director of Pickaway County's information and referral service titled "Pick A Way."

Mrs. Eyerman was deluged with 27 inquiries the first week after Herald staff writer Marion Sines featured her in a story several weeks ago.

And the response has not diminished, Mrs. Eyerman claims. She's been handling home health problems, gotten physicians for people, answered questions about employment, and discussed the generics of food stamps.

Well... not exactly.

"We're a facilitating service," said Alicia Polis, information specialist for the Central Ohio Area Council on Aging, which funds a portion of the local program.

"Most people, when they have a problem, end up spending a lot of time on the telephone," she said. "What we do is try to find the answer by acting as a clearing house for the general public."

Mrs. Eyerman actually "works" through a need or problem. She does not serve in the capacity of an answering service.

"I can't legally represent the group, but I can put clients in touch with the right people," she said.

However, this service covers only the surface of her work. Much of the time is spent following-up queries, and in this capacity, she serves as a consumer watch-dog.

She also cultivates new resources while allowing existing agencies to spend more time tackling assigned tasks. And, so far, she has received "wonderful cooperation."

The program began operation about three weeks ago after receiving funding from the National Mandate of the Commission on Aging through Older American Act monies.

It is one of eight similar information and referral services in the Central Ohio area, according to Ms. Polis.

Mrs. Eyerman has her office in Pickaway County Community Action Agency headquarters. PICCA also pays her salary.

Vera Saunders is the local I and R program administrator. She also serves as program coordinator for the Senior Center and a delegate to the Advisory Council of the Ohio Commission on Aging.

Other local delegates are Donald Strous, Everett Shriver, and Mary Clark.

This weekend's 15 deaths compared with 17 deaths each of the preceding two weekends, but was still above the year's average of 10 deaths a weekend.

'Fantastic' Response To Pick A Way

By DAVE AMEY
Herald Staff Writer

Judging from community response to Sharon Eyerman's line of business, she probably would have been out of a job by now if she had started sooner.

"It's just been fantastic," said Mrs. Eyerman, director of Pickaway County's information and referral service titled "Pick A Way."

Mrs. Eyerman was deluged with 27 inquiries the first week after Herald staff writer Marion Sines featured her in a story several weeks ago.

And the response has not diminished, Mrs. Eyerman claims. She's been handling home health problems, gotten physicians for people, answered questions about employment, and discussed the genetics of food stamps.

Well... not exactly. "We're a facilitating service," said Alicia Polis, information specialist for the Central Ohio Area Council on Aging, which funds a portion of the local program.

"Most people, when they have a problem, end up spending a lot of time on the telephone," she said. "What we do is try to find the answer by acting as a clearing house for the general public."

Mrs. Eyerman actually "works" through a need or problem. She does not serve in the capacity of an answering service.

"I can't legally represent the group, but I can put clients in touch with the right people," she said.

However, this service covers only the surface of her work. Much of the time is spent following-up queries, and in this capacity, she serves as a consumer watch-dog.

She also cultivates new resources while allowing existing agencies to spend more time tackling assigned tasks. And, so far, she has received "wonderful cooperation."

The program began operation about three weeks ago after receiving funding from the National Mandate of

It is one of eight similar information and referral services in the Central Ohio area, according to Ms. Polis.

15 Killed In Weekend Traffic

By The Associated Press

Fifteen persons were killed in Ohio weekend traffic accidents, five of them pedestrians, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported today. Another of the victims was killed when he fell under the wheels of a truck he was riding.

The dead also included two women killed in a car-train accident Sunday in the Cleveland suburb of Bay Village. The Patrol dropped the name of 15-month-old, Shannon Dupree from its list late Sunday after carrying it for part of the weekend. The toddler was run over by a car Friday night, but the accident occurred on private property. Only deaths on public roads are included in the tally.

This weekend's 15 deaths compared with 17 deaths each of the preceding two weekends, but was still above the year's average of 10 deaths a weekend.

The patrol keeps its tally from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday.

The dead:

SUNDAY

DAYTON — Eugene Reichbauer, 45, of Dayton in a one-car accident in Dayton.

CLEVELAND — Dorothea Honchell, 60, and her sister, Onieda Stratton, 58, of Bay Village, when a train hit their car at a Norfolk and Western crossing in suburban Bay Village.

JACKSON — Timothy A. Faulk, 20, Oak Hill, in a one-car accident in Oak Hill.

WAUSEON — James Harr, 24, Stryker, when the car in which he was riding ran off a Fulton County road near Pettisville and ran into a tree.

CONNEAUT — Hilja Naykki, 75, of Conneaut, of injuries received Friday night when she was struck by a motorcycle.

SATURDAY

COLUMBUS — Diane Moss, in her 20s, from Columbus, when struck by a car on Sunbury Road in Columbus.

COLUMBUS — Steven Minor, 24, Upper Arlington, in a one-car accident in the Columbus suburb.

CLEVELAND — Mitchell Perry, 25, Cleveland, when his motorcycle was Richardson Next CIA Director?

NEW YORK (AP) — Elliot L. Richardson, former attorney general and now U.S. ambassador to Britain, is "a prime possibility" to become the next director of the Central Intelligence Agency, Time magazine says.

The newsweekly said in this week's edition that CIA Director William Colby "sooner or later, quite possibly by the end of this year, seems certain to be asked to leave."

Time said other candidates under consideration for Colby's job are former Treasury Secretary George Shultz, former Deputy Attorney General William French Smith, and former Deputy Defense Secretary Cyrus Vance.

The antislavery movement became a major reform issue from the 1820s to the Civil War.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Keep Chemicals From Kids

DEAR ABBY: I am a physician. About 72 hours ago, a previously healthy, beautiful, 16-month-old child was brought to our department with obvious burns around his lips and mouth.

Only a few hours before, while visiting his grandparents, he discovered a bottle of lye and ingested only one mouthful. Fourteen doctors and dozens of nurses and operating personnel have been involved in the three operations that this child has already undergone.

The boy is now in our intensive-care unit, his eyes held shut with plastic tape, his breathing controlled by a machine and his life supported by tubes in his neck, chest, abdomen, penis, arms and legs. All of his esophagus and most of his stomach were destroyed by the lye and had to be surgically removed. If he lives, he will have to be fed through a hole in his abdomen for months.

Abby, please, ask your readers to inspect their kitchens, bathrooms, basements and garages, and to place all dangerous chemicals outside the reach of small children. Ask them to pass the word to their friends and neighbors who may not have children but who occasionally have young visitors.

This type of needless suffering and death to small children can be stopped today without spending one penny for research or donations.

I hope you will consider this worthy of your column, which is probably read by more people than any other.

ARNOLD E. KATZ, M.D.
IOWA CITY, IOWA

DEAR DR. KATZ: Worthy? If only one letter makes my column today, this will be it.

Readers, please place all detergents, bleaches, cleaning fluid, paint, polish, rat poison, drain cleaner and pills (including aspirin and iodine under lock and key today?

DEAR ABBY: In 1926, we were married. Four years later, we got divorced. Neither of us married anybody else.

Seven years later we got married again. Next year will be 50 years since our first marriage. Do we have the right to celebrate our 50th wedding anniversary? Or do we have to wait another seven years to make up for the time we were divorced?

EAST OF EDEN

DEAR EAST: Go ahead and celebrate your 50th. Who's counting? CONFIDENTIAL TO ANYONE WHO IS INTERESTED IN MONEY: If you're looking for ways to budget your money, save it, spend it wisely, invest it, leave it to your family or take it with you-I recommend Sylvia Porter's new "MONEY BOOK." Drastic Gas Curtailment Plan Bared

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Industrial customers with boilers capable of using alternate fuels would have all their gas curtailed this winter under a plan unveiled Friday by Columbia Gas of Ohio.

Columbia asked the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio for permission to amend its present 60 per cent curtailment plan for large boiler users now using more than one million cubic feet of natural gas each month.

A Columbia Gas spokesman said the reasoning was that the users involved for the most part can switch to alternate fuels such as fuel oil for boilers.

"It would preserve gas and hopefully make it more available for critical customers who cannot use alternate fuels," William Chaddock said.

M.E. White, Columbia president, said the action was taken because the level of curtailment for industry was so severe that pro rata curtailment down the line was no longer feasible.

"The company feels it is necessary to conserve available supplies of natural gas for critical uses, such as feedstock, maintenance gas and processing applications that cannot use an alternate fuel," White said.

Columbia, which serves central and southern Ohio, would like to put the plan into effect Nov. 1. Gas saved under the proposal would be prorated to other users.

Curtailment to commercial users would remain limited at 40 per cent. There would be no mandatory allocations for residential or domestic use customers, White said.

School Aid Bill Faces Conference Meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Senate sponsors of the state's new "equal yield" school aid formula will insist that the bill be put into a conference committee when state lawmakers return Monday for what has been billed as the final week of the summer session.

The prime sponsor, Sen. M. Morris Jackson, D-21 Cleveland, said the heavily amended bill is "in serious trouble, and there is a possibility that the school systems may have to remain under the present (old) formula."

Jackson, assistant majority leader and chairman of the Senate Education and Welfare Committee, said under the rewritten House version: "Cleveland has lost over $2 million, and I'm not going to stand for it."

The Senate approved its version and sent it to the House May 14 by a vote of 26-6, and the complicated measure emerged from the House Friday, 89-9, after lengthy debate.

In other business, the House approved and sent to the Senate an agreed bill that boosts workmen's compensation benefits, for most workers, from 66 2-3 per cent of the average weekly wage to a full 100 per cent. The vote was 96-0.

Ohio's average weekly wage is calculated from wages covered by unemployment compensation. Workmen's compensation benefits would be hiked from the present $119 weekly to $188 next Jan. 1, if the Senate goes along with the bill in its present form.

Majority Democrats, meanwhile, moved on two fronts Friday to keep alive their hopes of rebounding from several line item vetoes by GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes in the state's two-year budget bill. The House tried unsuccessfully earlier this week to override nine vetoes.

Senators approved 21-7, with

Republicans dissenting, a bill that enacts into permanent law the State Controlling Board, saying its status now is in doubt due to the governor's rejections of new powers for that agency. Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, said the bill is needed because the board normally is provided for in language contained in each biennial budget measure.

Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, said he agrees there is "a serious legal question", and that Republicans might go along with a new law if Democrats remove language in the new proposal similar to language vetoed by Rhodes.

Meshel said a bipartisan compromise will be sought in the House.

The House, at the same time, approved along party lines three resolutions asking for opinions from Democratic Atty. Gen. William J. Brown about the legality of some of the vetoes.

Speaker Pro Tem Barney Quilter, D-47 Toledo, and others want Brown to rule on whether Rhodes had authority to reject appropriations the legislature specifically earmarked, whether one veto applied after the governor already had signed the bill was valid, and whether the Controlling Board, in fact, still exists.

Temperatures at daybreak covered a span of about 20 degrees across the state. Along the Ohio River in southwestern Ohio, the mercury was in the low 70s. In contrast, readings were in the 50s in the northwest.

There were thundershowers over the state during the night as a cold front pushed south, but rainfall amounts were generally light, ranging down from .2 inch in Dayton.

At daybreak, the front lay on a line from southwestern Pennsylvania across extreme southern Ohio into southern Indiana. The front was to sink on south today into West Virginia and Kentucky.

High pressure over the mid Mississippi Valley this morning was to move east through the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley Tuesday. Showers were expected to end over southern Ohio this morning.

It will be mostly sunny today and again Tuesday with afternoon highs in the 80s. Tonight will be pleasantly cool with overnight lows from the upper 50s north to the low and mid 60s elsewhere.

A gradual warming trend will bring afternoon highs into the lower 90s in parts of Ohio by mid week.

Hearing Slated On Blue Cross Hike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Department of Insurance will hold a public hearing Tuesday on a request for a 25 per cent rate hike by Blue Cross of Central Ohio.

The proposed increase would affect nongroup policyholders, who make up less than 7 per cent of the company's business.

The company, serving 29 counties in central and southern Ohio, claims it lost $674,000 on nongroup policies last year.

Republicans dissenting, a bill that enacts into permanent law the State Controlling Board, saying its status now is in doubt due to the governor's rejections of new powers for that agency. Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, said the bill is needed because the board normally is provided for in language contained in each biennial budget measure.

Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, said he agrees there is "a serious legal question", and that Republicans might go along with a new law if Democrats remove language in the new proposal similar to language vetoed by Rhodes.

Meshel said a bipartisan compromise will be sought in the House.

The House, at the same time, approved along party lines three resolutions asking for opinions from Democratic Atty. Gen. William J. Brown about the legality of some of the vetoes.

Speaker Pro Tem Barney Quilter, D-47 Toledo, and others want Brown to rule on whether Rhodes had authority to reject appropriations the legislature specifically earmarked, whether one veto applied after the governor already had signed the bill was valid, and whether the Controlling Board, in fact, still exists.

Temperatures at daybreak covered a span of about 20 degrees across the state. Along the Ohio River in southwestern Ohio, the mercury was in the low 70s. In contrast, readings were in the 50s in the northwest.

There were thundershowers over the state during the night as a cold front pushed south, but rainfall amounts were generally light, ranging down from .2 inch in Dayton.

At daybreak, the front lay on a line from southwestern Pennsylvania across extreme southern Ohio into southern Indiana. The front was to sink on south today into West Virginia and Kentucky.

High pressure over the mid Mississippi Valley this morning was to move east through the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley Tuesday. Showers were expected to end over southern Ohio this morning.

It will be mostly sunny today and again Tuesday with afternoon highs in the 80s. Tonight will be pleasantly cool with overnight lows from the upper 50s north to the low and mid 60s elsewhere.

A gradual warming trend will bring afternoon highs into the lower 90s in parts of Ohio by mid week.

British Decision Cuts Buys In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A decision by Britain to remain in the European Common Market will mean a decline in purchases of some important U.S. farm products, including corn and other livestock feed grains, the Agriculture Department said today. A recent vote by 67.2 per cent of British subjects in favor of remaining in the European Community (EC) and in support of the British government accordingly is expected to focus on traditional EC objectives such as agricultural self-sufficiency and farm trade with other market members, the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said.

The report was written by William L. Rodman, U.S. agricultural attache in London. The United Kingdom, he said, has been a "prime overseas market" for U.S. farm products.

Rodman said that by staying in the alliance, an increase in British feed grain production, "supplemented by corn and soft wheat from France, will make further inroads into the U.S. share of Britain's feed grain market."

Also, Rodman said, U.S. exports of fruit and tobacco to Britain also could decline as a result of Common Market import policies and a preference by the community for arrangements with Mediterranean countries for supplies.

"But stable or increased demand is seen for imported hard wheat, soybeans and long-grain rice, since these products are not available from EC suppliers," Rodman said.

Limited by land available for agricultural expansion, Britain is not expected to increase grain production substantially. Rodman said that local output might rise to 17.5 million metric tons by 1980, compared with harvests of about 16 million tons now.

Britain is attractive as a market for livestock products, and other EC member countries are expected to continue seeking a full share. The United Kingdom, which includes Northern Ireland, must import about 20 per cent of its beef, 55 per cent of its bacon, 50 per cent of its lamb and 85 per cent of its butter.

That lucrative market, Rodman said, is rapidly being taken over by Common Market suppliers, a market once dominated by southern hemisphere countries such as Argentina, Australia and New Zealand.

Hoosiers Pledge $61,000 To Demos

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Pledges of more than $61,000 were wrangled from Hoosier Democrats by the Democratic national telethon over the weekend, state Chairman Bill Trisler said Sunday. He said the figure is about 20 per cent less than was pledged during a similar effort last year.

Trisler blamed high unemployment and other economic woes for the decrease in contributions. National party officials predicted more than $5 million would be pledged during the broadcast that began Saturday night. A goal of $6 million had been set for the star-studded telecast.

Rhodes Picks Younger Helpers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When Gov. James A. Rhodes announced his cabinet choices earlier this year, many big names were repeats from past administrations of the Republican state executive.

But as he moved into the term, he added some new, young aides.

His chief of staff, Thomas Moyer, is 36.

The soft-spoken Moyer was born in Sandusky and received a law degree from Ohio State University in 1964. That year he became an assistant state attorney general under William B. Saxbe until 1966 when he entered private practice.

Moyer became an aide to Rhodes' longtime, former chief of staff, John McElroy, in December 1969 under Rhodes' previous administration and stayed with Rhodes until former Gov. John J. Gilligan, a Democratic, took office.

Moyer again returned to private practice and served four years on the Columbus Board of Education two as president until rejoining Rhodes' staff in January.

He was top aide to McElroy until being elevated March 1 when McElroy resigned.

Moyer's top assistant is 28-year-old Frederick Mills of Fostoria. Mills worked as a page in the House for three years and as a clerk for four years while attending college.

Moyer's second assistant is also 28, Clark Wideman, a buddy of Mills.

He also worked as a House page and in the clerk's office while attending college. In addition, he's been a bailiff in the Franklin County Municipal Court.

Moyer is in charge of drafting most legislation that Rhodes presents. He is also the top legislative liaison officer for the administration.

Other youthful workers are:

—Chan Cochran, 33-year-old administrative assistant and main administration spokesman. Cochran, a former newspaper reporter, substitutes for the governor at various conferences and performs a multitude of political odd-jobs.

—Jack Daly, 26, gubernatorial press secretary, worked for a private non-profit handicapped rehabilitation organization in Milwaukee and the Ohio Rehabilitation Services Commission before joining the administration in January.

—Robert L. Ratchford Jr., 30, is the most recent addition to the staff in charge of commutation and ex-traditions.

Shooting Continues In Angola

LUANDA, Angola (AP) — Americans and Europeans continued to flee from embattled Angola today as rival nationalist armies vied for the control of the southwest African territory.

No immediate plans to close the U.S. Consulate were announced, but the British Consulate was shut down on Sunday and the staff flew to London today.

The British consul general in Luanda, Stanley Croft, said in London that there were reports of "massacres of blacks by blacks" and although there had been no moves against whites the situation in Luanda was becoming increasingly dangerous.

Croft said he had heard reports that up to 14,000 troops of the Peking-backed National Front for the Liberation of Angola (FNLA) were marching on Luanda from the north to try to take control from the rival MPLA.

Croft said some Britons, mainly directors of large business concerns, chose not to evacuate because they had no time to make arrangements for their businesses to continue.

"They have taken a calculated risk but individuals can look after themselves," he said.

About 20 Americans and 85 Britons and other Europeans left Luanda on Sunday as mortar rounds exploded in Luanda's surrounding shantytowns and the sky was darkened by smoke from blazing oil tanks on Luanda Bay.

Ten Americans who boarded an oil rig service boat belonging to the Texaco Oil Co. were expected to reach Gabon, further north on the Atlantic coast, later today.

Texaco said a second boat would be available for more Americans wanting to leave.

About 170 Americans were reported to be living in the territory before the evacuation from Angola, which is to become independent from Portugal in November.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

Rape Bill Passes House

The House unanimously approved legislation this week which would provide protection for victims of sexual assault. Rep. Aveni was the main sponsor of the bill in the House.

Am. Sub. S. B. 144 underwent several major changes during House Judiciary Committee debate. In its final, approved form, the bill contained the following provisions:

Prohibits introduction of evidence that pertains to a victims sexual activity in prosecutions for rape and gross sexual imposition.

Restricts evidence that may be introduced, except credibility evidence.

Establishes the new crime of felonious sexual penetration.

Requires mandatory incarceration for persons convicted of rape or felonious sexual penetration.

Makes a first rape conviction a nonprobationable offense.

Requires hospitals to offer organized emergency services to provide 24 hour physician services for victims of sexual crimes and requires local governments to bear the cost of evidential medical examination of victims.

Requires that if a minor is examined for rape, the parents must be notified.

Am. Sub. S.B. 144 represents a serious intent on the part of Ohio legislators to crack down on sexual offenders and protect the privacy and dignity of the victim. The bill accomplishes those aims.

Other Floor Action

Am. Sub. H.B. 137, sponsored by State Rep. Lehman received total support from House members on Tuesday. The bill would require the inclusion of conversion privileges in group policies of hospital, surgical or medical expense insurance, and would permit subscribers of a health care corporation or hospital service association to transfer from a group to an individual basis in most cases.

Under present law, health care corporations and hospital service associations have the unrestricted right to cancel their contracts with subscribers. Furthermore, current law contains no obligation on the part of these insurers to provide a group contract or group policy subscriber with the option to convert from group coverage to individual coverage.

Am. Sub. H.B. 137, if enacted, would provide the health care group policy holder with a necessary legal safeguard.

Supplemental Appropriation Bill Introduced

State Rep. Kenneth Cox introduced legislation on Wednesday of this week, calling for a $15,000,000 supplemental appropriation to the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation for the Biennium ending June 30, 1977. The bill was introduced after the House failed to override the Governor's veto of the budgetary appropriations for that department.

The $15,000,000 appropriation was originally added to Sub. H.B. 155, the Budget Bill, during Senate deliberation on fiscal allocations. Under the provisions of H.B. 1020, which has received bi-partisan support, the supplemental appropriation of the vetoed sum would be made directly to the Department for institutional use, instead of first being channeled through the Controlling Board, as was proposed in the Budget Bill. The later procedure has raised strong objections from the Rhodes Administration.

There are over 55 co-sponsors of this piece of legislation, which proves that there is a strong legislative concern to provide the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation with additional operating funds.

Joint Select Committee On Energy Meets

The Joint Select Committee on Energy met Tuesday evening to discuss the possibility of changing Ohio's utility rate making formula, RCN (Reconstruction Cost New). Under the present formula, utilities are allowed to put together their own base rate by estimating what it would cost to reconstruct utility facilities at today's inflated prices.

It has been estimated that if all the existing and pending rate cases presently before the PUCO were calculated in terms of dollars under RCN, it would cost the Ohio Consumer $1.2 billion.

Proponents of a change in the rate-making formula advocate that the law be changed to allow valuation of utility property on the basis of original cost. Other recommendations made by the PUCO include:

Recommend that management efficiency policies should be made a part of rate case hearings.

Efficiency and adequacy of services provided by utilities should also be a part of rate case hearings.

Advocate a change in law which would require that all rate cases be concluded within 9 months of the date of application. (Ohio presently has a 22 month lag, which is one of the longest waiting periods in the country).

Prospectus

Strong lobbyist opposition has abated and the House Finance Committee voted out a satisfactory School Foundation Formula Bill, S.B. 170. Floor action on the bill is expected within the next few days.

H.B. 174, relative to Workman's Compensation law, was also voted out of the House Commerce and Labor Committee on Wednesday. A floor vote on this legislation is also anticipated before the termination of this week's legislative activity.

Distribution Center Construction Set By Quality Farm & Fleet

Quality Farm & Fleet, Inc., a Michigan based retail chain with a store in Circleville, has announced plans to construct a new distribution center in Findlay.

The new facility will serve the company's 19 outlets in Ohio, Michigan, and Indiana, and will be located in the Findlay Industrial Center.

The distribution center will be located on a 17.6 acre tract adjacent to Route 12, two miles east of Interstate 75, this site being ample for foreseeable future expansion needs. The initial 128,000 square foot structure will make use of the "high cube" concept, maximizing total space utilization of the Center's 3,232,000 cubic feet.

Quality Farm & Fleet is a factory direct supplier of over 12,000 items for automotive, household, and agriculture.

A detailed community analysis preceded the decision to locate in Findlay. The principle factors leading to the decision were: labor quality and availability, favorable transportation network, and the progressiveness of the community.

Initially, Quality Farm & Fleet expects to hire approximately 20 employees with a future requirement of over 45 people. The company's fleet of trucks will be based in Findlay when the project is completed, according to company officials.

Quality Farm & Fleet presently has 11 outlets in Ohio, 4 in Indiana, and 4 in Michigan that will be served by the Findlay Distribution Center. Each outlet will benefit from being served by the Center. Through the use of an efficient stock replenishment system, the need for warehouse facilities at each outlet will be eliminated, while providing a higher service level to their customers. The company also expects to realize a reduction in freight costs and other overhead factors as well as to obtain greater inventory flexibility.

Ground breaking plans, while not complete, are expected to take place later this summer. The facility will be in full operation in 1976.

Clement P. Shea, Jr., has been named as manager of the new facility and will be instrumental in its development. Presently located at the company's corporate offices in North Muskegon, Michigan, Clem and his family plan to make Findlay their home next year.

New Scanner Replaces X-Ray Use

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Infants, pregnant women and persons weakened by heart defects may be safely examined without the use of radiation or exploratory surgery, doctors at Licking Memorial Hospital have found.

The doctors are using a scanning device that operates on the same principle as sonar devices used underwater. It is the first of its kind being used in Ohio, Dr. M.A. Bulas, hospital radiologist said.

Sound waves emitted by the scanner produce echoes when they bounce off organs, bone or tissue. The machine then outlines a map of that portion of the body on a television screen. When a wand is moved over a portion of exposed skin, the screen shows that cross section of the patient, Bulas said.

The device can supplement an X-ray by showing things radiation can't. For example, Bulas said, the scanner can identify the location of a lesion in the body and show whether it is a cyst or tumor.

The scanner can also diagnose some heart defects which otherwise might require exploratory surgery, Bulas added. He said the scanner is also being used in pregnancy examinations without danger to the fetus.

A video taping system and camera can turn the map into a permanent record, the radiologist explained.

Bulas predicted hospitals with 300 or more beds would be using the scanners by the early 1980s.

Licking Memorial's scanner cost $43,000, but more advanced devices could cost from $350,000 to $600,000, he said.

St. Augustine, Fla., existing since 1565, is the oldest continually inhabited city in the United States.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

Rape Bill Passes House

The House unanimously approved legislation this week which would provide protection for victims of sexual assault. Rep. Aveni was the main sponsor of the bill in the House.

Am. Sub. S. B. 144 underwent several major changes during House Judiciary Committee debate. In its final, approved form, the bill contained the following provisions:

Prohibits introduction of evidence that pertains to a victim's sexual activity in prosecutions for rape and gross sexual imposition.

Restricts evidence that may be introduced, except credibility evidence.

Establishes the new crime of felonious sexual penetration.

Requires mandatory incarceration for persons convicted of rape or felonious sexual penetration.

Makes a first rape conviction a nonprobationable offense.

Requires hospitals to offer organized emergency services to provide 24 hour physician services for victims of sexual crimes and requires local governments to bear the cost of evidential medical examination of victims.

Requires that if a minor is examined for rape, the parents must be notified.

Am. Sub. S.B. 144 represents a serious intent on the part of Ohio legislators to crack down on sexual offenders and protect the privacy and dignity of the victim. The bill accomplishes those aims.

Other Floor Action

Am. Sub. H.B. 137, sponsored by State Rep. Lehman received total support from House members on Tuesday. The bill would require the inclusion of conversion privileges in group policies of hospital, surgical or medical expense insurance, and would permit subscribers of a health care corporation or hospital service association to transfer from a group to an individual basis in most cases.

Under present law, health care corporations and hospital service associations have the unrestricted right to cancel their contracts with subscribers. Furthermore, current law contains no obligation on the part of these insurers to provide a group contract or group policy subscriber with the option to convert from group coverage to individual coverage.

Am. Sub. H.B. 137, if enacted, would provide the health care group policy holder with a necessary legal safeguard.

Supplemental Appropriation Bill Introduced

State Rep. Kenneth Cox introduced legislation on Wednesday of this week, calling for a $15,000,000 supplemental appropriation to the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation for the Biennium ending June 30, 1977. The bill was introduced after the House failed to override the Governor's veto of the budgetary appropriations for that department.

The $15,000,000 appropriation was originally added to Sub. H.B. 155, the Budget Bill, during Senate deliberation on fiscal allocations. Under the provisions of H.B. 1020, which has received bi-partisan support, the supplemental appropriation of the vetoed sum would be made directly to the Department for institutional use, instead of first being channeled through the Controlling Board, as was proposed in the Budget Bill. The later procedure has raised strong objections from the Rhodes Administration.

There are over 55 co-sponsors of this piece of legislation, which proves that there is a strong legislative concern to provide the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation with additional operating funds.

Joint Select Committee On Energy Meets

The Joint Select Committee on Energy met Tuesday evening to discuss the possibility of changing Ohio's utility rate making formula, RCN (Reconstruction Cost New). Under the present formula, utilities are allowed to put together their own base rate by estimating what it would cost to reconstruct utility facilities at today's inflated prices.

It has been estimated that if all the existing and pending rate cases presently before the PUOCO were calculated in terms of dollars under RCN, it would cost the Ohio Consumer $1.2 billion.

Proponents of a change in the rate-making formula advocate that the law be changed to allow valuation of utility property on the basis of original cost. Other recommendations made by the PUOCO include:

Recommend that management efficiency policies should be made a part of rate case hearings.

Efficiency and adequacy of services provided by utilities should also be a part of rate case hearings.

Advocate a change in law which would require that all rate cases be concluded within 9 months of the date of application. (Ohio presently has a 22 month lag, which is one of the longest waiting periods in the country).

Prospectus

Strong lobbyist opposition has abated and the House Finance Committee voted out a satisfactory School Foundation Formula Bill, S.B. 170. Floor action on the bill is expected within the next few days.

H.B. 174, relative to Workman's Compensation law, was also voted out of the House Commerce and Labor Committee on Wednesday. A floor vote on this legislation is also anticipated before the termination of this week's legislative activity.

Distribution Center Construction Set By Quality Farm & Fleet

Quality Farm & Fleet, Inc., a Michigan based retail chain with a store in Circleville, has announced plans to construct a new distribution center in Findlay.

The new facility will serve the company's 19 outlets in Ohio, Michigan, and Indiana, and will be located in the Findlay Industrial Center.

The distribution center will be located on a 17.6 acre tract adjacent to Route 12, two miles east of Interstate 75, this site being ample for foreseeable future expansion needs. The initial 128,000 square foot structure will make use of the "high cube" concept, maximizing total space utilization of the Center's 3,232,000 cubic feet.

Quality Farm & Fleet is a factory direct supplier of over 12,000 items for automotive, household, and agriculture.

A detailed community analysis preceded the decision to locate in Findlay. The principle factors leading to the decision were: labor quality and availability, favorable transportation network, and the progressiveness of the community.

Initially, Quality Farm & Fleet expects to hire approximately 20 employees with a future requirement of over 45 people. The company's fleet of trucks will be based in Findlay when the project is completed, according to company officials.

See Kennedy As Candidate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy may be the Democratic candidate for president next year, says House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., a fellow Massachusetts Democrat.

O'Neill, speaking Sunday on CBS' "Face the Nation," said Kennedy wants to run but is being opposed by his family. O'Neill said he had asked Kennedy if he should tell people that Kennedy would not run and he quoted the senator as responding no, "keep me alive."

Kennedy has said repeatedly in public that he will not seek the Democratic nomination.

Those Kennedy statements are taken at face value by Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield who said on NBC's "Meet the Press" that he thinks Kennedy won't run. Mansfield also said he hopes Kennedy won't make the run for the sake of his family and because he's a good senator.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., an announced candidate for the Democratic nomination, repeated his belief that Kennedy will stay out of the 1976 race. Jackson spoke in Baltimore where he announced that he intended to enter the Maryland presidential primary. He said he considers Alabama Gov. George Wallace as his primary opponent in the state.

Bellbrook Officials Bounced

BELLBROOK, Ohio (AP) — A controversial vote on a village earnings tax has left the 1,300 people in the village of Bellbrook in southwestern Greene County without a mayor and five of their six councilmen.

Voters recalled the six in a special election Saturday.

Last year, voters turned down a one-half per cent earnings tax. Council voted 6-1 in December to enact the tax anyway and recall petitions went out this spring.

This weekend, the six councilmen who voted for the tax, including the mayor, were recalled by a margin of about 4-1.

Only councilman Robert Yeager, who voted against the one-half per cent tax, escaped the voters' wrath. YEager had said he favored a one-fourth per cent earnings levy.

Mayor Charles K. Billings and the five other councilmen involved in the recall effort asked Greene County Common Pleas Court last Wednesday to issue an order against the election.

Clinton County Probate Court Judge Paul Riley, sitting in Greene County by assignment, continued the case until after the election. So Bellbrook is starting the week with no mayor and without a quorum of council members.

And Judge Riley is on vacation this week.

The mayor and five councilmen contend that the recall could bring financial disaster to the village by removing its sources of income, the mayor's court and state and federal assistance which must be approved by council.

The financial future of the village—and the political futures of Mayor Billings and councilmen Lawrence Cornett, Betty F. Borden, Lawrence R. Tepe, Robert L. Jones and August F. Peroutka, apparently will remain in doubt until Judge Riley returns from vacation.

The panel of seven men and five women was slated to decide after a few weeks rest how much the 41 present or former state officials and guardsmen would be assessed. If granted, the motion would remove the possibility the jury might dismiss the claims to avoid sitting during a hearing to determine amounts of damages.

In their motion for relief of jury, the plaintiffs noted their case "is not yet concluded — although the end is in sight."

Before court recessed for the weekend last Wednesday, a lawyer for the victims said his side might call as many as 15 more witnesses.

The defense, believing that development unlikely after 10 weeks of trial, began arranging photographs and documents for their case in chief and final arguments to follow.

The defense has presented its case each day on its turn at examining the 53 witnesses who have taken the stand so far and is not expected to recall anyone.

"I'd be very surprised if we take more than a week (for the case in chief)," one defense attorney said. He predicted the defense would call 16 witnesses at a rate of four a day.

L. A. Wins, Can't Catch Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Don Sutton, acknowledged as one of baseball's top pitchers but never a 20-game winner, has a bigger catch in mind. But he's a realist. "In order to win, you've got to win all year long," he said, describing the dilemma facing the Los Angeles Dodgers after failing to cut into front-running Cincinnati's commanding 12½-game lead. "You can't just go out and say okay what we're going to do is lay back in the weeds then when we need to win in July we'll jump all over them," said Sutton after stopping the Reds 5-3 Sunday.

Teammate Steve Garvey echoed Sutton's thoughts. "I feel like a guy in a dark room looking for the door and all I do is keep bumping into things," he said after the Dodgers departed with a split in the four-game series. "We're just knocking heads with each other. We haven't taken advantage. We have to get a winning streak together. We have to get our confidence back," said the slugging first baseman who fueled the Dodger pennant dash last year. Sutton, now 14-9, refused to place special significance on the series-ending victory over the Reds. "This game was no bigger than one of the three we lost to them in April," said the veteran righthander who relied on a hypnotist last year to salvage a 19-victory season. "People put too much emphasis on one ball game. You've got to play San Diego like Cincinnati. The idea is to go out and beat everybody," added Sutton, who appears headed for the first 20-victory season of his 10-year career. He refuses to speculate on a 20-victory season, saying "a lot of things can happen. I used to think about it. Now I don't. Come October I'll sit down and look back over it and either be very happy or wish I'd have done something different," he said. Sutton spaced six hits before Mike Marshall came on to preserve the Dodgers sixth victory in 11 games with Cincinnati. Catcher Steve Yeager's four hits, including a solo homer, helped bring the Dodgers out of a hitting slump which has haunted them through June and July. However, Yeager was indefinitely sidelined when he was struck in the groin by a foul tip. Afterwards, he said the Dodgers won't give up their pursuit of the Reds. "You can't count them short, but you can't count us short either," he said. "We've had our ups and downs, but we'll be there in the end-I hope." Reds catcher Johnny Bench, who hit his 20th homer, admits the Reds "have lost some of the edge. Mentally and physically we lost some of the sharpness."

Weiskopf Winner Of Canadian Open

ILE BIZARD, Que. (AP) — There was an air of deep, intense satisfaction, almost retribution, in Tom Weiskopf's attitude. He'd just conquered Jack Nicklaus in a sudden death playoff Sunday for the Canadian Open Golf Championship. And Weiskopf's thoughts drifted back to the spring of the year and "the greatest disappointment of my life," at Augusta, Ga. and the Masters. He lost that tournament by a stroke to Nicklaus, a record fourth time he's been second there. "I thought I got over it in a couple of weeks," he said. "But I didn't. It really took it out of me. I haven't played much since then and I haven't played very well. The disappointment is the reason. "It's a great thrill, it means a lot to win a national championship." Weiskopf, who scored a dramatic birdie on the first extra hole, benefitted from two Nicklaus' lapses and a little putting lesson Jack gave him early in the week. Nicklaus, playing well in front of Weiskopf, appeared to have his first Canadian national championship in his pocket when he stood on the 18th tee. But, not knowing that Weiskopf was in trouble and on his way to a bogey on the 16th, Jack pull-hooked his drive into a lake on the left of the 18th and eventually made bogey. That cut his lead to a single stroke.

Weiskopf, a close friend who will play as Nicklaus' partner in the National Team championship later in the year, rammed in an 18-foot birdie putt on the 17th to tie and chipped up close to make par on the 18th, setting up the playoff. They finished the regulation 72 holes in a drizzling rain tied at 274, six-under-par on the 6,628 yard Royal Montreal Golf Club course. Nicklaus, who had shared the lead at the end of the first three rounds, had a closing 68, two under par. Weiskopf shot 67. On the first playoff hole, Weiskopf lofted his seven iron approach shot over water to within two feet of the cup. Nicklaus responded with a seven iron to about 6-8 feet. Both had distinct birdie possibilities. But Jack missed. Nicklaus earned $22,800 for second, which boosted his money-winnings for the year to $203,599, well in front of Johnny Miller, now second at $183,170.

Tribe Splits Doubleheader With Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — The Cleveland Indians may be in the cellar of the American League East, but that hasn't discouraged Manager Frank Robinson, who still has hopes his team can finish second in the division. "If you can't get first, take second. It's not that far away. Boston keeps pushing them back for us If they keep winning like that it'll be a battle for second," said Robinson Sunday as the Indians and Detroit Tigers split a doubleheader. Detroit won the opener 8-7, but the Indians won the second 7-2 as the Tribe jumped on Lerrin LaGrow for four runs in the first inning and Fritz Peterson won his first game in two months. Peterson, working on a threehitter until Tiger rookie Jack Pierce blasted a two-run homer in the seventh inning of the second game, said Robinson told the Indians on the bench, "Let's go for second now." Detroit won the battle for fifth place — by a percentage point — against Cleveland in a split of the four-game series over the weekend, but both teams remain in a position to battle for second in the division. While Boston pulls away, the other teams are bunching together.

Tigers Set Conditioning, Examinations

The summer fitness running program for all Circleville High School football players will get underway 6:29 p.m. today at the high school practice field. The program will be conducted every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 6:29 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. under the direction of the entire Circleville football coaching staff. It will consist of warm-up exercises, agility and quickness drills, timed 110-yard sprints, timed 40-yard sprints, endurance drills and exercises on universal weight machine. The main purpose of the running fitness program is to condition the athlete's cardiovascular system and to acclimate the athletes gradually to the warm, humid temperatures that will be encountered during the two-a-day football practice session in August. This reduces the chances of heat stroke and heat exhaustion. Free physical examinations for all high school athletes who will participate in any of the sports programs at Circleville High School this coming school year will be given 7 p.m. Thursday in the high school gym. Any athlete who fails to take the examination will have to get one from their own doctor at their own expense. Dates for girls and Junior High School physicals will be announced at a later date.

L. A. Wins, Can't Catch Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Don Sutton, acknowledged as one of baseball's top pitchers but never a 20-game winner, has a bigger catch in mind. But he's a realist. "In order to win, you've got to win all year long," he said, describing the dilemma facing the Los Angeles Dodgers after failing to cut into front-running Cincinnati's commanding 12½ game lead. "You can't just go out and say okay what we're going to do is lay back in the weeds then when we need to win in July we'll jump all over them," said Sutton after stopping the Reds 5-3 Sunday.

Teammate Steve Garvey echoed Sutton's thoughts. "I feel like a guy in a dark room looking for the door and all I do is keep bumping into things," he said after the Dodgers departed with a split in the four-game series. "We're just knocking heads with each other. We haven't taken advantage. We have to get a winning streak together. We have to get our confidence back," said the slugging first baseman who fueled the Dodger pennant dash last year. Sutton, now 14-9, refused to place special significance on the series-ending victory over the Reds. "This game was no bigger than one of the three we lost to them in April," said the veteran righthander who relied on a hypnotist last year to salvage a 19-victory season. "People put too much emphasis on one ball game. You've got to play San Diego like Cincinnati. The idea is to go out and beat everybody," added Sutton, who appears headed for the first 20-victory season of his 10-year career. He refuses to speculate on a 20-victory season, saying "a lot of things can happen. I used to think about it. Now I don't. Come October I'll sit down and look back over it and either be very happy or wish I'd have done something different," he said. Sutton spaced six hits before Mike Marshall came on to preserve the Dodgers sixth victory in 11 games with Cincinnati. Catcher Steve Yeager's four hits, including a solo homer, helped bring the Dodgers out of a hitting slump which has haunted them through June and July. However, Yeager was indefinitely sidelined when he was struck in the groin by a foul tip. Afterwards, he said the Dodgers won't give up their pursuit of the Reds. "You can't count them short, but you can't count us short either," he said. "We've had our ups and downs, but we'll be there in the end-I hope."

Weiskopf Winner Of Canadian Open

ILE BIZARD, Que. (AP) — There was an air of deep, intense satisfaction, almost retribution, in Tom Weiskopf's attitude. He'd just conquered Jack Nicklaus in a sudden death playoff Sunday for the Canadian Open Golf Championship.

And Weiskopf's thoughts drifted back to the spring of the year and "the greatest disappointment of my life," at Augusta, Ga. and the Masters.

He lost that tournament by a stroke to Nicklaus, a record fourth time he's been second there.

"I thought I got over it in a couple of weeks," he said. "But I didn't. It really took it out of me. I haven't played much since then and I haven't played very well. The disappointment is the reason."

"It's a great thrill, it means a lot to win a national championship."

Weiskopf, who scored a dramatic birdie on the first extra hole, benefitted from two Nicklaus' lapses and a little putting lesson Jack gave him early in the week.

Nicklaus, playing well in front of Weiskopf, appeared to have his first Canadian national championship in his pocket when he stood on the 18th tee. But, not knowing that Weiskopf was in trouble and on his way to a bogey on the 16th, Jack pull-hooked his drive into a lake on the left of the 18th and eventually made bogey. That cut his lead to a single stroke.

Weiskopf, a close friend who will play as Nicklaus' partner in the National Team championship later in the year, rammed in an 18-foot birdie putt on the 17th to tie and chipped up close to make par on the 18th, setting up the playoff.

They finished the regulation 72 holes in a drizzling rain tied at 274, six-under-par on the 6,628 yard Royal Montreal Golf Club course. Nicklaus, who had shared the lead at the end of the first three rounds, had a closing 68, two under par. Weiskopf shot 67.

On the first playoff hole, Weiskopf lofted his seven iron approach shot over water to within two feet of the cup. Nicklaus responded with a seven iron to about 6-8 feet. Both had distinct birdie possibilities.

But Jack missed. Nicklaus earned $22,800 for second, which boosted his money-winings for the year to $203,599, well in front of Johnny Miller, now second at $183,170.

Pirates Steamroller Expos In Twinbill; Win Clashes 4-1, 5-3

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Now that Cincinnati seems to have locked up the West Division, the question is who'll volunteer to try and stop Pittsburgh in the East?

Thank you, Danny Ozark.

"Somebody has to and we'll do our best," Philadelphia's fiery manager said as he looked forward to tonight's opener of a three-game series in Pittsburgh against the front-running Pirates.

The Pirates, steamrolling Montreal 4-1 and 5-3 in a doubleheader Sunday, got a bit of unexpected help from St. Louis, which dumped the Phillies 9-6 and dropped them 5½ games out of first place.

In the rest of the National League, Los Angeles beat Cincinnati 5-3, San Diego defeated Atlanta 3-1, San Francisco downed Houston 5-3 and, in another twinbill, Chicago split with New York, winning the opener 4-2 before the Mets took the 10-inning nightcap 4-1.

Ted Simmons' mammoth seventh-inning home run carried the Cardinals past Philadelphia. It was his third hit of the game and made a winner of 39-year-old Bob Gibson.

The one-time fireballing right-hander hadn't won a game since June 27 and he won this one in only his second relief role since 1965.

Pirates 4-5, Expos 1-3

Willie Stargell borrowed a light bat from pitcher John Candelaria and slugged a three-run homer in the eighth inning of the nightcap to give Pittsburgh its sweep over the Expos.

Aquatic Championship Goes To United States

CALI, Colombia (AP) — They pulled the plug on the second World Aquatics Championships and when it was all over, only the United States and East Germany could hold their heads above water.

The powerful American and East German contingents overwhelmed the field and their only competition was against each other.

The United States Sunday claimed its second straight World Aquatics Championships team victory, finishing with 16 gold medals, 11 silver and 10 bronze. East Germany totalled 11 gold, seven silver and five bronze.

Paul Brown Seen Pleased With Team

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — With a week to go before the opening of the exhibition season, Cincinnati Bengals Coach Paul Brown is pleased with what he has seen thus far.

"This was as sound a two weeks of laying the foundation of this thing as I've ever had," Brown told his players after the first scrimmage of the year Saturday.

The team continued twice-a-day drills Sunday at the start of the third week of camp at Wilmington College. Brown added that for the first time in seven years of Bengal training camp, the offense was ahead of the defense in the initial scrimmage. "Not only is that so, but I'll say I wasn't disappointed because things I really wanted to see showed up," he said.

The Cincinnati coach also was pleased with the scrimmage performances of several rookies making strong bids for spots on the club.

Free agent Brad Cousino of Miami of Ohio, converting from middle guard to middle linebacker, and Wisconsin tight end Jack Novak, a 12th-round draft choice, stood out before a crowd of 7,000.

Break up the Red Sox!!!!

The boys from Boston are running away with the American League East and they don't expect to be caught from behind.

"I don't think we can blow it," said Manager Darrell Johnson. "These boys just love to play baseball and they play the hell out of it."

"Lose? No chance," said rookie outfielder Fred Lynn. "Well...there's always a possibility but the chances are really slim."

"If we stay healthy, no one is going to catch us," added pitcher Bill Lee. "We have the best ballclub."

The reason for all the optimism was a 1-0, 6-0 sweep of the New York Yankees Sunday, a twin-killing that lifted the Red Sox games ahead of secondplace Baltimore in the East Division. Lee and Roger Moret pitched six-hitters as Boston won for the 17th time in the last 20 games.

Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland swept a doubleheader from Chicago 10-1, 7-1, Baltimore took two games from Milwaukee 7-4 and 11-6 in 10 innings, California coasted by Minnesota 6-1, Kansas City shaded Texas 2-1 and Detroit split with Cleveland, winning 87 and losing 7-2. Lee, 13-6, outdueled Catfish Hunter, 13-10, in the first game. Lynn reached first on an error by shortstop Jim Mason in the ninth inning, stole second and scored on Rick Miller's single for the game's only run.

Boston had an easier time of it in the nightcap as Jim Rice rapped four hits and drove in two runs, and Carl Yastrzemski hit his 12th home run of the year.

A's 10-7, White Sox 1-1

Vida Blue, 14-8, and Stan Bahnsen, 7-8, pitched eight-hitters and Reggie Jackson and Joe Rudi homered in each game as Oakland upped its lead in the AL West to 9½ games.

Orioles 7-11, Brewers 4-6

Baltimore rallied for six runs in the ninth to tie the second game and five more in the 10th to win it. Doug DeCinces' two-run triple and Al Bumby's two-run homer keyed the rally in the ninth while Tommie Davis hit a grand slam homer in the 10th.

Angels 7, Twins 6

Dick Lange, 4-3, posted his first complete game victory of the season and had a shutout until Tony Oliva homered in the ninth.

Royals 2, Rangers 1

Steve Busby, 13-8, bested Gaylord Perry, 9-15, as Kansas City won its fifth straight game, four of them under new manager Whitey Herzog.

Tigers 8-2, Indians 7-8

Detroit rallied from a 7-2 deficit to take the opener on Aurelio Rodriguez' tie-breaking triple in the eighth inning.

Cleveland came back in the nightcap behind Fritz Peterson, 5-7, who won for the first time in two months.

Circleville Pacer Wins At Scioto Downs

Sugar Lang, owned by George A. Fissel of Circleville, won the sixth race Saturday night at Scioto Downs.

Pirates Steamroller Expos In Twinbill; Win Clashes 4-1, 5-3

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Now that Cincinnati seems to have locked up the West Division, the question is who'll volunteer to try and stop Pittsburgh in the East?

Thank you, Danny Ozark. "Somebody has to and we'll do our best," Philadelphia's fiery manager said as he looked forward to tonight's opener of a three-game series in Pittsburgh against the front-running Pirates.

The Pirates, steamrolling Montreal 4-1 and 5-3 in a doubleheader Sunday, got a bit of unexpected help from St. Louis, which dumped the Phillies 9-6 and dropped them 5½ games out of first place.

In the rest of the National League, Los Angeles beat Cincinnati 5-3, San Diego defeated Atlanta 3-1, San Francisco downed Houston 5-3 and, in another twinbill, Chicago split with New York, winning the opener 4-2 before the Mets took the 10-inning nightcap 4-1.

Ted Simmons' mammoth seventh-inning home run carried the Cardinals past Philadelphia. It was his third hit of the game and made a winner of 39-year-old Bob Gibson.

The one-time fireballing right-hander hadn't won a game since June 27 and he won this one in only his second relief role since 1965.

Pirates 4-5, Expos 1-3
Willie Stargell borrowed a light bat from pitcher John Candelaria and slugged a three-run homer in the eighth inning of the nightcap to give Pittsburgh its sweep over the Expos.

Aquatic Championship Goes To United States

CALI, Colombia (AP) — They pulled the plug on the second World Aquatics Championships and when it was all over, only the United States and East Germany could hold their heads above water.

The powerful American and East German contingents overwhelmed the field and their only competition was against each other.

The United States Sunday claimed its second straight World Aquatics Championships team victory, finishing with 16 gold medals, 11 silver and 10 bronze. East Germany totalled 11 gold, seven silver and five bronze.

Paul Brown Seen Pleased With Team

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — With a week to go before the opening of the exhibition season, Cincinnati Bengals Coach Paul Brown is pleased with what he has seen thus far.

"This was as sound a two weeks of laying the foundation of this thing as I've ever had," Brown told his players after the first scrimmage of the year Saturday.

The team continued twice-a-day drills Sunday at the start of the third week of camp at Wilmington College.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Unless you have other commitments which will take up too much of your time, this would be a good day in which to start a brand-new project — even, perhaps, in another field.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Venus highly favorable. Follow up inspired plans with creative accomplishment. As with Aries, you could now take up a new venture if the odds seem to be on your side.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Planetary influences now stimulate your imagination, ingenuity and incentive. This is the time to reach for top goals.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): This is a day for aggressive action — which the Leoite always enjoys. Aim for your objectives in swift, sure manner. On the personal side: Romance highly favored.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Better-than-average influences but, in general, you will fare better at routine activities than in starting new enterprises. Watch the budget.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Fine planetary influences now stimulate your lively imagination, spark new and lofty ambitions, give you a fresh outlook on life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Here is a chance for your special gifts of inspirational planning and organizing, under either revised or completely new methods. Do make the most of it!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Mixed influences. Plan now to clear up any confusing situations. Security must be built up on a sound basis. Intelligently productive methods needed.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Invest time and energies only in projects worthy of your endeavor. In a rush to accomplish, however, don't by-pass details.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Uranus somewhat adverse. Start for irritating situations and bridge them amicably and with unbiased opinion. Move briskly into productive areas.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A more or less average day. Better finish, or at least further current project. Starting new undertakings without proper preparation could lead to disappointment.

YOU BORN TODAY are well-endowed mentally; often achieve physically as well — as, for instance, in the world of sports; can attain in almost any field in which you are interested. Yours is a Sign of vibrance and magnanimity, and it also endows you with great strength of will, determination, idealism, enthusiasm, keen intuition and foresight. Your personality is dynamic, fits you for leadership in many fields — notably as writer, editor, merchant, banker, actor or painter — but you must curb a tendency to be overbearing with others. Birthdate of: Booth Tarkington, Amer. novelist; Dag Hammarskjöld, Swed. statesman.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — It has been written that in the event of a missile attack, we'll have only a few minutes' warning. We should like to give you far more advance warning about a bomb ABC will drop on us Thursday.

The device bears the title of "Almost Anything Goes." It's an hour-long, five-week summer series. It has small-town teams participating in zany athletic contests in the spirit of the old potato sack races.

We got an advance look at it last week. We fled after a halfhour, pledging to make a serious attempt at reading "War and Peace," a project we undertake each summer when TV viewing reaches the dregs.

We always fail on account of drink or laziness. But, by neddies, after watching half of "Almost Anything Goes," we're going to read "War and Peace" on Thursday nights for the next five weeks.

The ABC show is that bad. It's a numbing example of what happens when people having fun doing silly sports are covered by sportscasters who are All Business about their chosen calling.

We refer to Charlie Jones and Lynn Shackelford, ABC's reporting team. Their coverage of the just-for-laughs proceedings is as intense and cliché-filled as that normally given pro basketball.

Thursday's show, taped at Murphy Park in Putnam, Conn., has teams from Putnam, Webster, Mass., and Burrillville, R.I., battling for the series' "Eastern Regional Championships."

It starts with the blare of a high school marching band and Shackelford's solemn report that the teams' home towns are in a 15-mile radius of each other, "which means there may be no home field advantage."

Team members are solemnly introduced, their ages and backgrounds solemnly recited. Then three referees in striped shirts are gravely presented. Then the first event light-heartedly commences.

A young man and woman plunge into a pool, climb on a bobbing raft and try to don formal evening wear in 90 seconds. Jones gives a play-by-play recital that is mind-boggling. He is totally serious.

A second set of contestants later jumps in the pool. Jones carefully notes because they are in their 30s they might have more experience in dressing formally "and perhaps their age will be a factor."

To the library now for a copy of "War and Peace." True, it'd be easier to loaf or watch Channel 21's "Hello, Long Island" for the next five Thursday nights. But we made a pledge. Besides, our set can't get Channel 21.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Unless you have other commitments which will take up too much of your time, this would be a good day in which to start a brand-new project — even, perhaps, in another field.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Venus highly favorable. Follow up inspired plans with creative accomplishment. As with Aries, you could now take up a new venture if the odds seem to be on your side.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Planetary influences now stimulate your imagination, ingenuity and incentive. This is the time to reach for top goals.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): This is a day for aggressive action — which the Leoite always enjoys. Aim for your objectives in swift, sure manner. On the personal side: Romance highly favored.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Better-than-average influences but, in general, you will fare better at routine activities than in starting new enterprises. Watch the budget.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Fine planetary influences now stimulate your lively imagination, spark new and lofty ambitions, give you a fresh outlook on life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Here is a chance for your special gifts of inspirational planning and organizing, under either revised or completely new methods. Do make the most of it!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Mixed influences. Plan now to clear up any confusing situations. Security must be built up on a sound basis. Intelligently productive methods needed.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Invest time and energies only in projects worthy of your endeavor. In a rush to accomplish, however, don't by-pass details.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Uranus somewhat adverse. Watch for irritating situations and bridge them amicably and with unbiased opinion. Move briskly into productive areas.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A more or less average day. Better finish, or at least further current project. Starting new undertakings without proper preparation could lead to disappointment.

YOU BORN TODAY are well-endowed mentally; often achieve physically as well — as, for instance, in the world of sports; can attain in almost any field in which you are interested. Yours is a Sign of vibrance and magnanimity, and it also endows you with great strength of will, determination, idealism, enthusiasm, keen intuition and foresight. Your personality is dynamic, fits you for leadership in many fields — notably as writer, editor, merchant, banker, actor or painter — but you must curb a tendency to be overbearing with others. Birthdate of: Booth Tarkington, Amer. novelist; Dag Hammarskjöld, Swed. statesman.

switching yard to re-sort intermodal trains enroute, making it possible to improve customer service substantially.

At the Collinwood shops, where the major overhauling of Alco and GE locomotives will continue, safety and environmental improvements will be installed during the first year of the program.

In addition, Sharonville Yard in Cincinnati, Stanley Yard in Toledo and the intermodal facilities at Cleveland, Cincinnati and Columbus are scheduled for upgrading.

A new intermodal terminal is proposed for the Toledo area to handle projected future traffic volumes.

INDIANA

In Indiana, the plan places great priority on rehabilitating main line routes. Under the program, this would involve lines between Indianapolis and East St. Louis via Effingham, Indianapolis and Cleveland, Toledo to Chicago via Elkhart, and Crestline to Chicago via Fort Wayne.

Recommended for rehabilitation and expansion during the first year of ConRail's capital improvement program is the Elkhart Yard in Elkhart, including safety and environmental improvements.

Also during the first year, a signal system improvement will be installed between Marion and Goshen. Intermodal facilities at the Avon Yard in Indianapolis are to be expanded and a new intermodal facility is to be constructed at Gary in anticipation of increasing demand during the 1980s.

For passengers, the plan recommends that additional service be initiated in the Chicago-to-Cincinnati corridor, with frequency being increased from one to three round trips per day between Chicago and Indianapolis and one to four round trips per day between Indianapolis and Cincinnati.

19-Year-Old Charged With Contributing

Timothy L. Hammond reported to South Bloomfield Marshal Jack Widdig that he was southbound on Route 23 near the roadside rest when the 16-year-old boy, driving a subcompact car, threw a beer bottle at his vehicle, causing minor damage.

Miss Duncan had allegedly purchased beer for the youth which was in the auto at the time of the incident.

We're going across the ocean to get you more clean-burning gas.

In just a few years, huge ships with specially designed, super-cold compartments will be bringing additional natural gas supplies—in liquid form—from across the ocean. Natural gas can be liquefied by reducing its temperature to minus 260°F., making it possible to reduce 625 cubic feet of gas to 1 cubic foot of liquid. That means LNG can be shipped in cryogenic tankers from places we can't reach with our pipelines.

Each ship, carrying enough gas to supply more than 14,000 homes for a full year, will deliver LNG to a special receiving terminal that Columbia Gas is helping to build on Chesapeake Bay. There, the LNG will be vaporized for delivery to Columbia's pipelines.

Although its cost will be higher, LNG will give Columbia's customers more clean energy. And with scarcity and mounting expense affecting all types of energy, your gas bill will still represent one of your most economical purchases.

COLUMBIA GAS is doing something about the energy crisis.

switching yard to re-sort intermodal trains enroute, making it possible to improve customer service substantially.

At the Collinwood shops, where the major overhauling of Alco and GE locomotives will continue, safety and environmental improvements will be installed during the first year of the program.

In addition, Sharonville Yard in Cincinnati, Stanley Yard in Toledo and the intermodal facilities at Cleveland, Cincinnati and Columbus are scheduled for upgrading.

A new intermodal terminal is proposed for the Toledo area to handle projected future traffic volumes.

INDIANA

In Indiana, the plan places great priority on rehabilitating main line routes. Under the program, this would involve lines between Indianapolis and East St. Louis via Effingham, Indianapolis and Cleveland, Toledo to Chicago via Elkhart, and Crestline to Chicago via Fort Wayne.

Recommended for rehabilitation and expansion during the first year of ConRail's capital improvement program is the Elkhart Yard in Elkhart, including safety and environmental improvements.

Also during the first year, a signal system improvement will be installed between Marion and Goshen. Intermodal facilities at the Avon Yard in Indianapolis are to be expanded and a new intermodal facility is to be constructed at Gary in anticipation of increasing demand during the 1980s.

For passengers, the plan recommends that additional service be initiated in the Chicago-to-Cincinnati corridor, with frequency being increased from one to three round trips per day between Chicago and Indianapolis and one to four round trips per day between Indianapolis and Cincinnati.

19-Year-Old Charged With Contributing

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Jack Moats arrested 19-year-old Kim Shannon Duncan, Columbus, for contributing to the unruliness of a minor and a 16-year-old Columbus youth for criminal damaging in an incident on Route 23, 10:10 p.m. Saturday.

Timothy L. Hammond reported to South Bloomfield Marshal Jack Widdig that he was southbound on Route 23 near the roadside rest when the 16-year-old boy, driving a subcompact car, threw a beer bottle at his vehicle, causing minor damage.

Miss Duncan had allegedly purchased beer for the youth which was in the auto at the time of the incident.

A 13-year-old Route 1, Amanda youth was apprehended by Sheriff's Deputy J. Phillip Brown noon Sunday for taking a display of old coins from the coliseum at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

Larry Wilson, Lancaster, owner of the coins, told Deputy Brown that the boy had walked by the display several times before he took them from a cigar box and ran.

The boy was released to the custody of his parents pending the determined value of the coins.

Two escapees from the Roweton Boys Ranch in Chillicothe were apprehended by the Ranch Director James Carruth, 9:50 p.m. Saturday.

Carruth advised Sheriff's Deputy James Dixon, the 16-year-old boys left the ranch on two stolen ponies approximately 7:15 p.m. Abandoning the ponies near Westfall Road in Pickaway County the youths began hitchhiking when they were picked up by Carruth.

Carruth took them to the Frank Lutz residence where he contacted Pickaway Authorities advising he wanted them placed in detention and that he would file charges.

Deputy Dixon advised Carruth that charges would have to be filed in Ross County.

The two boys were then transported to the Ross County Jail by Ross Sheriff's Deputies.

Accident Injures Cyclist

Twenty-seven-year-old Lloyd S. Johnson, Columbus, sustained contusions, abrasions and lacerations when he was involved in a motorcycle accident, 4 p.m. Saturday.

Johnson was riding his cycle in a private lane frequently used by trailbike riders when Johnson noticed a cable had been put across the roadway.

Unable to stop Johnson had to lay the cycle down to keep from hitting the cable.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Jack Moats investigated the accident.

CHAMPION—Nine-year-old Kim Kaiser, a member of the Orient Road Runners 4-H Club, holds the trophies she won in the Bicycle Rodeo Sunday. She collected first place in the girls 7-9 category and earned a chance to compete in the Ohio State Fair.

Bike Winners Get Chance At State Fair

The riders had to complete a rugged course that included every imaginable obstacle.

Kim Kaiser, a member of the Orient Road Runners, won the girls 7-9 class and Kevin Agin, of the Walnut Hot Wheels, won the boys class.

Girls 10-12 year old winner was Lisa Raymond, a member of the Walnut Hot Wheels. Boys winner was Darryl Ward, a member of the Circleville Hot Wheels.

The open competition was won by Clifford Greenlee. Judges were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hemming, Mrs. Martha Prettyman, Don Price.

We're going across the ocean to get you more clean-burning gas.

In just a few years, huge ships with specially designed, super-cold compartments will be bringing additional natural gas supplies—in liquid form—from across the ocean. Natural gas can be liquefied by reducing its temperature to minus 260°F., making it possible to reduce 625 cubic feet of gas to 1 cubic foot of liquid. That means LNG can be shipped in cryogenic tankers from places we can't reach with our pipelines.

Each ship, carrying enough gas to supply more than 14,000 homes for a full year, will deliver LNG to a special receiving terminal that Columbia Gas is helping to build on Chesapeake Bay. There, the LNG will be revaporized for delivery to Columbia's pipelines.

Although its cost will be higher, LNG will give Columbia's customers more clean energy. And with scarcity and mounting expense affecting all types of energy, your gas bill will still represent one of your most economical purchases.

COLUMBIA GAS is doing something about the energy crisis.
